

St. John, N.B.

24 June 94

My dear Anna,

I trust that you arrived safely & comfortably at your destination; and that Eric did not find himself tired. I hope very much, for your comfort, that the children at Metis will keep well & all right. At church this morn; the minister said incidentally that the "God of the fatherless & the widow" meant that He took under His special care all those who were less protected; and in this sense we should have special faith in His care of your children at Metis.

It appears to me,
in thinking it over, that it is a good sign in Eric's case that he is so equally run down in different directions. This seems to indicate a good general constitution; as the weakening attacks he has had would have developed in most people some weak point, or brot on some definite organic trouble. I hope that he will pick up; and I do not forget him in prayer in relation to his highest interests -

I will be very much cut off from you all this summer. The only address I can give you
is "North Sydney, C. B." where I hope to be early in August for a day or two. Please send me a line towards the end of July -

Yours affectionate
brother,
Will -

Food

~~Bread~~

~~Milk $\frac{1}{2}$ _{1 hour}~~

~~bacon~~

~~grapefruit~~

~~hardboiled~~

~~pineapple~~

Tomatoes

lettuce

~~green pepper~~

~~toilet paper~~

~~finger cauliflower~~

Round,

meat

Sausage

~~Cube steak~~

T.V. dinner

~~peaches~~