My dear Anna,

I was down in Montreal yesterday, getting back this pm. at 1.30. Everything much as usual there. Bernard looking better I think than when I was last down & children all apparently well. Mother suffering somewhat from indigestion I am sorry to say. William Skelton is still at Forts Point struggling with the elements. The weather is very cold today here, within a few feet of zero, but with very little snow — none practically in town.

This morning in winter it was quite damp, but gradually becoming colder as we met the cold wave coming from the northward. Today I mailed to you a copy of the new Bardley for Canada, which may be of some interest to Eric. You might buy it back when you are furnished with it if you do not want to keep it or give it away. It contains a lot of information in a condensed form.

Yours
George.
