re New Municipal and Excise and Slope

Dearest Love,

I got two letters from you yesterday, both of them most welcome. It was pleasant to hear that you had had so much of fine weather though anything but pleasant to hear that you were in danger of an attack from a "robber-band". I sincerely hope the band has found out the poverty of the land and left for richer fields. The weather of the past few days has been very trying (yesterday 80° in the shade), but now there has been quite a drop in the temperature and this a most delightful day. Ruth went in for the manufacture of ice-cream yesterday and succeeded very well.

Collyer's work has now fairly begun, and after the announcement of results this morning he gave an admirable address to the students which pleased them greatly. He seems to be producing a very favourable impression upon every hand and certainly grows upon one.
From various remarks that he has made, however, I fear that he is a coeducationist and that it will not be long until we have the old question up again. He has I find been working on coeducation lines at Brinley.

I do not think there is any chance of getting public, as

They have succeeded in getting several boarders and she is needed at home. Clare, however is going to see her to-day. Bridget has been doing very well for us, but is in great fear and trepidation as to what will happen if no housemaid is secured before your return. You could certainly not count upon her for anything beyond the rudiments of cooking. I believe that Jennie who was with us last year is in town along with a cousin named one Cree and that they are trying to get a place in the same house, one as housemaid the other as Cook. I think too that Mrs.
 P. J. Molton told Clare about some girl who expected to come to town shortly and wanted a housemaid's place.

Ruth has just come home and the dinner bill was owing, so I must be off--

Dinner disposed of. - I have since up all idea of going to Quebec.
Your father, however, is going down
- on Thursday I think & intends to return on Saturday. George also intends to come down on Saturday.

I had now forgotten the stone for poor Eric, and have had nothing done in the way of improvements at the house because I felt that my funds were so low and that the stone ought to be the first thing. One is reminded of the poor boy at every turn here.

Love to all friends.

Your loving husband
Bernard
