G. M. ill

Tuesday afternoon

Dearest Mother,

Dr. Blackader & Dr. Browne have just been in to see G. M.

They have left me
with very little more to tell you. They found her pulse good & said that everything was going favourably so far, but that no definite opinion could be given for a ^{few} days.

I was with G. M. This afternoon while the Nurse was resting, but sat most of the time outside her door as she would talk to me + Dr. B. Says she must not discuss things.

Miss Schneider is such a comfort. gets on splendidly with Elizabeth + is going to have Elizabeth's sister help her.

G. M. has closed nearly all day - The effect of the hyperclonic I fancy - I just feel it more for
you than anyone,
it is so hard to
be away doing nothing, & yet that is exactly what I am doing here - for there is nothing for me to do - I am writing daily to Aunt Florence as of course

she should know how things are going too -

I do hope Father is able to have some fresh air, for that will help every thing -

Much love to him from Clara -
