

Victoria Mines, Ont.,

5th February 1908.

Dear Dr. Adams,

All Dr. Harrington's students heard of his decease with great sorrow. Though we had heard of his illness for some time, those of his old students at this place were greatly surprised and pained to hear of his death, as we had not supposed his illness serious.

His students will ever cherish his memory. We always felt that he taught for the love of teaching, that his investigations were undertaken for the love of the subject in hand, and that everything he did was done for the very joy of doing it. Our feelings toward him can only be likened to our feeling toward our own parents. We loved him - we could not help it.

I am very glad indeed, Dr. Adams, that you are moving in the matter, and am only glad of the opportunity to respond to your request. Please do not hesitate to let me know if this is insufficient.

I remain,

Your old student,

E. V. Corless

Dr. F. D. Adams,

McGill University,

Montreal, Que.

Victoria Mines, Ont., 5th February 1908.

Dear Dr. Adams,

All Dr. Harrington's students heard of his decease with great Though we had heard of his illness for some time, those of old students at this place were greatly surprised and pained to hear of his death, as we had not supposed his illness serious.

copy

His students will ever cherish his memory. We always felt that he taught for the love of teaching, that his investigations were undertaken for the love of the subject in hand, and that everything he did was done for the very joy of doing it. Our feelings toward him can only be likened to our feeling toward our own parents. We loved him - we could not help it.

I am very glad indeed, Dr. Adams, that you are moving in the matter, and am only glad of the opportunity to respond to your request.
Please do not hesitate to let me know if this is insufficient.

I remain,

Your old student,

W. J. Adams

Dr. F. D. Adams,
McGill University,
Montreal, Que.