Dearest -

It certainly does seem long for you to be away without a word from you - Nellie remarks that "she thinks it - must be the evil of the honeymoon -" which shows some jealousy of putting two & two together on her part -

I wish I had suggested your telegraphing from N.Y! however we shall hope to see you soon again - & to hear that your trip has been a success in one direction or another - I have heard a pleasant letter from mother & they continue to enjoy their new quarters though even there time does not seem to be long enough to get-through the daily task.

I am trying to get matters into shape, & have my hands full but on the whole I think we shall manage - Mother's very small package will be sent to-morrow - I have failed to think of anything really nice for her - or paper either

If you meet with a new 5-it-piece or one not too worn, I wd much like one I have an Eng - a Can - I want a Yankee one to complete a little brooch for Ruth, to match Clara's Eng - one - I sh^d have thought of this before

Included it is so unlikely to reach you that I must not - refer this into a letter especially as I find myself on the point of putting down currants - turkeys - Ruth's crackers - parcel post -

Or other items between the vessels that belong to my ventures - Indeed have I kept a record since I began to receive these shipments - stocks, as they profit my head -

Such low men, I a leg & happy returns -

So enough
mine

Wishes very many -
