and Dr. Maclise declared the church named accordingly.

J. Rev. Mr. Melville stated that he had proposed to call it, "MacLeod Church," in honor of great benefactor in Halifax; who has, however, declined the honor; and he himself should do the same, (Voice,—"It is named already,"—"it is settled,") but since it is named in memorial of the excellent Scottish reformer, Principal Andrew Melville, he would acquiesce, and seek to copy his virtues.

The congregation then united in singing the last two verses of Psalm 122, and Dr. Maclise pronounced the Apostolic benediction.

After the congregation had retired, the Kirk Session assembled, six Elders and seven Deacons being present, and harmoniously arranged for the payment of the contractors, and other matters for the welfare of the church.

The following donations have been received for the church: besides the material and labor supplied by the colonists themselves for the building:—
