

Anna to George gives news of different people Tupper - etc

whisker burnt off!

My very dear George, Many thanks for your last letter, though I cannot say that it gave me much insight into your walk or ways, you have a faculty for writing such letters I think, now when I write, I flatter myself that I give you a pretty good idea of the ins & outs of our daily life - The Convocation went off very well, Mr Tupper's Valedictory was a decided success, & he delived it without any help but a half sheet of notes, I believe that it has always previously been read - Mrs Tupper came down from Ottawa to be present at the conferring of his degree, she lectures here, & we all liked her, she is very pretty, stout & matronly. It was so sorry that her poor son messed the medal by a very few marks, - he is going to be a lawyer & as his studies will be continued in Ottawa, we shall lose him, for which I shall be really sorry, as we have seen a great deal of him during his four years stay.

Last Tuesday the Browns departed, all except Arthur who remains to walk the hospital.

On Monday evening I thought I would go down & say good bye, so I sent for mine, & she & I & William set off, he put us into the street cars, & went down town himself as he had a message, when we got to the house we found that Dr Blackadder had just left, & that Alfred was there armed with an immense packet of french bonbons, which materially added to our enjoyment, Mrs Browne was sick in bed, so we had quite a pleasant evening, returning early before ten, if I often wish that such unceremonious visits were of more frequent-occurrence they are so pleasant - Mine has had a splendid photo, taken, one of the best likenesses I have ever seen, I must ask her for one to send you, I am sure you would like to see it.

Lady Drummond
Dr Anderson arrived this morning with a huge trunk, Julia Walker is here, & we expect the McLiments on Monday or Tuesday, so we shall have a house-full, as I am always the victim in the matter of being turned out of my room, & I don't mind much, it will not make much difference.

Watton Turner (of Baloon celebrity) was married yesterday to Miss Kilaly of Toronto, they are coming down here to spend the honey moon, at the Baynes', peculiar taste, eh? - however it will be
