

Montreal May 19th 1911.

My dear George

I am quite glad to have the excuse of writing to get to sit down quietly for a few minutes. Between Ladies Association meetings added to my regular ones - Visitors - & hunting for a sermon I feel worn out & long for regularity & quiet. The Misses Mc Linnant are nice girls but altogether too worldly & fond of excitement for us to entertain. Mr Anderson's, Willie has lately been attacked with rheumatism of the lungs & the Dr has ordered him to take a long holiday from work.

being connected in business with the Nova Scotia steam boats the owners have given him a passage there & back, so he was added to our list of visitors yesterday; the weather continues so cold that Mr Anderson thinks he must wait & go by the following trip. He is a tall average size boy of 18. I think you will be somewhat surprised when I tell you that Mr & Mrs Baynes - Mr & Mrs Peter Peppath & Mrs Prof. Forbes all go home by this trip of the Allan line. Mrs Baynes only decided to go last Friday. & with our present fuss I have had no time to think of anything to send to you. I have a copy of our Mark Twain's books I have made futile attempts to read & as it seems clear &

I fancy I am going to send you it.
I have given his gone address & William has drawn a little map in his note-book of your street in relation to the Glass Square Station. In attention I am going to ask for his address to send to you to-day - if we get it you have the business. You may go soon to see he I think it will be such a pleasant meeting. I quite rejoice to think of your pleasure. Poor Prof: Forbes is seriously ill. Dr. Ingham tells us there is no hope of his ever returning to do work here.

William asks me to say he has nothing particular to write about this week & has handed me a plan of the grounds to show the exact position of the new Medical building

You will not fail to let us know how you have arranged with Prof: Ramsay about your plans for the Museum.

Papa's scheme for beginning a School of Technology progresses wonderfully. That is the money that is needed. Comes in in greater plenty than we expected. I am so tired that I write carelessly - do not for me to say goodbye. Anne I hope may get Mrs Baynes' address before Hamilton Comes for the letters.

Our sends you his love with much from myself.

Believe me your affectionate Mother.
