

McGill College.
Montreal.

My dear George

I cannot recall at what they - paper's foot was when I last wrote about it. The swelling & redness just affected the point & later crept up nearly to the knee. After a few visits Dr B Lechevalier brought Dr Roddick to see it & together they washed & disinfected it & plastered it over with a new remedy called intothedans? made for naturally decomposed fish, later on this was changed per an application of hard wh: appears to have been more successful. Again today Mr B. brings the Redelick & he tells me the leg is making most satisfactory progress & Redelick tells me that he has known of a leg affected by chronic swellings cured by supuration of erysipelas & its treatment, & as all Constitutional disturbance has passed away in paper's case & his right leg has assumed its natural shape & size, & that it has not had for months there is some encouragement to hope that the attack may do good in the end.

 Don't regret our being in the College, here as we are surrounded it is so much better, & very much better than it could be in a hotel. & since I have been on foot the few evenings

We use have been more easy looking.

Erysipelas in the head is a more serious thing than in other parts. I hope Mr. Selwyn may be careful to avoid any more attacks. The smallest abrasions of the skin exposes one to the contagion. The Dr. was warning me today to notice if I got the smallest scratch & to notice if paper had a pimple or any break of the skin any where.

Mr. Malson has just been in & tells us that he, Mrs. M. & Miss Will leave on Wednesday of next week for Chicago. He intends to put himself & party into the guidance of Raymond & Whitcomb of Boston who make all arrangements including hotel accommodation, carriage &c. He is told that the trains are very full as the closing of the exhibition ing draws near. I hope you will manage to go. There is no prospect of your being able to go to America till after your return. altho personally I am daily gaining strength.

With love from

Graves
