Dear George,

I do not know that I have acknowledged yours of the 16th from Kamloops.

I have written to Anna respecting the $100
in the Montreal Bank, and shall obey her instructions. I know that she has enough money for the moment, and Bernard is with her;
but if they have to decide on any important news you send Thoughtfulness may be of important service.

Here at Little Wells
we are vegetating as usual. I have done a little writing but that is all. Much time is occupied with little attentions to Frence and Anna's family; but we expect Harrington has next week so that will soon be over if he can stay. In any case Mamma

 and I are very glad to do anything we can for Anna in the distressing circumstances and for Florence in William's absence.

The latest news
 of William was July 4,

When he had reached Luteau Bay in Labrador, and was arranging
for his tide-gauge
there.

The reports from Anna are more favorable.
She thinks Eric improves a little, and Bernard's arrival has been a great relief to her.
He was to start on Monday last on an

if there is anything in the reported advantages of Saranac and other places, but there are many comforts
and advantages
where they are.

Mother is not strong and has had several little returns
of her trouble, all

I hope however she
