Dearest George,

Your letter arrived about 10^o. last evening, you did not say when it was sent - It is too bad, you sh^d feel that we have neglected you, & indeed I only mention the complications of daily life, to excuse my many short comings. I find it almost impossible to be systematic now that the children are more independent, & have hours & engagements that they must attend to - & yet they require guidance, or attention of some sort, in their goings out, & comings in. I am a very last person without are receiving your aid; we act as though it is just theCESSARY of life, that leaves this time for the important things - I thought the clerk at the college had been employed if not it were - he sees to at once. I was glad to mother about it.

Remember the Rev - went - back to return yesterday, looking better, but - not - very robust. I hope he will be all right - had well go out, as he has been some in a week or two I see how he is looking, he was shamed to go back, I had collected some gifts for all the people and there seem to separate of a special board there but rich, he is good a young boy - he shall miss him a great deal - but I think he is doing well, if he does not - just as well.

definite times - however I shall complacently smile now when I find the birds flourish & no one wanting me -

I have never said a word about the being to R - & indeed have only seen him twice since he arrived, & Mother has not spoken of it either, whether she is waiting for him, or has not had a suitable opportunity, I do not know - R. did say in my hearing, that in going over his things he had put together about 500 letters from papa covering the years he has been away from home, & no doubt containing much of interest. I fancy R. finds a good deal to do about his own ménage, & may be waiting to hear from you. I will give you any news I have, you may be sure & you must not for a moment imagine that in

As the hut-use much as usual, I was a long time to go around again, though with ease, she got up at once time I takes a walk, yesterday she drove over to "Go" had a heap of the with her, I wheel back, which was quite a venture but she does not seem the worse today, Her back like asher, but not so much.
Beautiful weather, I hope you take advantage of it, I walk as usual some times

With all love

Love
