My dear Arthur:

I received your letter of the 12th of October and thank you very much for looking young Horsfall over. They are fine people. His father is a great friend of mine and he certainly appreciates your interest in the boy.

I notice what you say about James Shotwell, Margaret Harvey and Anne Ashwell. I am glad you called my attention to where Anne Ashwell is, because I may be up in Edmonton one of these days and I will run around to see her.

You spoke about Wetherell and that he regards you more favorably than he did in the early 90s. Of course we were all a bad lot and he was a grown up man. We didn't appreciate that he was very earnest. I occasionally hear of him and his son was out visiting me not long ago.

I don't get East very often. Thank God, I don't want to go East except to see my friends. We have fine weather out here and lots of golf. I am going up to the Senior Northwest Tournament at Victoria this summer, where I was last summer when you were there, and had a very good time.

Maj.-Gen. Bill Lindsay from Strathroy and I see a great deal of each other and we are in communication all the time. He has visited me here and so has his mother. Mrs. Lindsay is still living and is now in Vancouver, B.C. She comes down to visit us.

With very best regards, I am,

Yours very truly,

My dear Ivan:-

Young Horsfall came in to-day and presented your letter written about the 25th of August. He seems a very bright, good looking young man and no doubt he will do well here where his father is remembered by many of the practising physicians. I remember Dr. Horsfall very well, having met him at the Reunion a year or so ago. The Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, Dr. Charlie Martin, is a great friend of young Frank's father and I know will look after him well. He will, of course, find the winter here very different, as far as climatic conditions are concerned, from the winter on the Coast, but it is a most delightful place at that. The skating, hockey, skiing, snow-shoeing, appeal very much to the young people.

I am sorry I did not see you when you called on me in Victoria. I very nearly went out to see the finish in the Seniors' tournament and am sorry now I didn't. How in the world do you come to be playing among the old men? Here one must be 55 before one is regarded as a senior, and I do not think you are that old yet.

Please remember me to Arthur Johnson when next he visits you. I have not seen him for nearly thirty-five years. You will remember

Mrs. Jim Shotwell(Margaret Harvey). She and Jim were at the Conference in Honolulu, which I attended. She is the same bright companion as always. You may remember Anne Ashwell. Her husband died last Spring and she now holds some position in the Library of the University of Alberta, Edmonton. When I go home I very often meet Jessie Murdoch, but what has become of most of the other members of that Matriculation Class, I do not know. Miss Balmer, of course, is dead, while Miss Laura L. Jones is still teaching, I believe, near Port Hope. I often see Mr. Wetherell in Toronto. Whenever I address a public body there he is always present and I think regards me much more favourably than he did in the early 90s. He keeps his age wonderfully well and looks about the same as always.

With all kind wishes, I am,

Yours faithfully,

Sir Arthur Currie,
President,
McGill University,
Montreal, Canada.

My dear Arthur:

An old friend of mine in this city, Dr. Frank L. Horsfall, a graduate of McGill University, is sending his son, Frank L. Horsfall, Jr., to McGill for his medical course. The father is a very successful physician and is one of the big Canadian graduates practicing in the Northwest. The son, Frank L., Jr., has been very prominent here in athletics, was four years on our world wide winning crew, and is an A.B. of our University. He will present this letter to you, and any courtesies extended to him or anything you can do for the young man will be esteemed as a great personal favor.

I called you at Victoria last Sunday. I was over there playing in the Senior Northwest Golf Tournament, but I take it it was your wife who said you had gone out to play golf, so I missed you.

By the way, I see Arthur Johnson quite frequently, that is, every year or so and hear from their family.

Major-General Lindsey has been visiting me here and I visited him for a while in California last winter.

Yours very truly,

Ivan L. Hyland
