Dear Sir:-

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of May 9th.

I am always glad to receive suggestions as to how the different courses at McGill can be improved. You suggest that we include in our course
"certain subjects which would make it equally useful for those intending to follow a purely commercial career, etc."

Will you please state definitely what subjects you think should be included.

Yours faithfully,

Principal.

Dear Sir:-

I am very much interested in the Commercial Courses which have recently been organised by the leading Canadian Universities. Looking over the syllabus of the course at McGill University, I may be wrong, but it seems to me that it is perhaps more particularly adapted for those intending to pursue the professions of Auditors and Accountants than any other class of business. I have been thinking it over for some time, and have wondered whether you would be averse to broadening your Commercial Course, by including certain subjects which would make it equally useful for those intending to follow a more purely commercial career, such as manufacturing or that of an export commission merchant.

I hope you will not think my proposal to be too much of a liberty, but would have you believe that I am solely actuated by a desire to increase the commerce of this country, and to see it established on a secure foundation. At the present time, we as Canadians, are much too slipshod in our methods, and it is my opinion that Canadian Universities can do a great deal to overcome this, by inculcating in the minds of those students who intend to follow a business career, those principles upon which true and lasting success can only be obtained.

I beg to acknowledge receipt of your letter of the 10th. inst., and in reply would say that the modification of your commercial course which has been in my mind is, that it should be made to include such subjects as the preparation of documents required in connection with foreign shipments, packing, marking, etc. Perhaps also such subjects might be included as ocean and rail transportation, and a closer study of export trade and the main points which make for success in it. In connection with your engineering laboratory, you might be able to give a course in practical packing which should be quite invaluable, as one regrets to say that it is one of the features in connection with export trade that is sadly neglected in this country.

This is only a brief outline, but it seems to me in looking over the subjects included in the commercial courses in Canadian universities, that with small additions they could be made extremely valuable to a wider circle of those intending to follow a business career in some form or another. Of course, what is in my own mind, is to put the business of exporting upon a scientific basis, and I feel sure that an exporter who has had the advantage of a commercial course in such a university as McGill, is very much better fitted and more likely to carry this

My dear Sir Arthur,

I received with great pleasure a copy of a letter written by yourself to Mr. Poussette, Director of the Commercial Intelligence Service, Ottawa, with regard to a letter I sent to Ottawa on the subject of admission of Indian students to Canadian Universities.

I am very glad to have your assurance that McGill University will welcome Indian students to her halls. I am sending copies of your letter to the principals of several universities in India. Your letter will afford me much assistance in combatting the idea prevalent in India that Canada does not wish to admit Indians within her borders.

I appreciate very much your kind wishes expressed in your letter of July the 3rd and follow with the keenest interest and admiration your splendid leadership of Old McGill.

Yours faithfully,

Canadian Govt. Trade Commissioner.

H. R. Poussette, Esq.,
Director, Commercial Intelligence Service,
Department of Trade & Commerce,

My dear Colonel:-

I beg to thank you for your letter of June 21st.

Let me say in reply that McGill University would be very glad to number in its student-body some students from India. In fact I have discussed with more than one Indian representative the best means of having Indian students educated here.

One Indian, Rustom Rustomjee, who lectured to the students last winter, was quite sure that he could induce some Indian princes to grant a few scholarships.
At the present time we have not sufficient funds to justify us offering special inducements to Indian students to take their university courses here, but should they come we would be very glad indeed to see them and to welcome them.

Major Chisholm is himself a graduate of McGill.
He is also an old officer of mine and I knew him very well when he served so gallantly in the 3rd Bn. In writing to him please remember me most kindly to him and say that we would appreciate any efforts of his which would result in having the great nation of India represented at the National University of McGill.

Yours faithfully,

Principal.

Dear Sir,-

I attach herewith, a copy of an excerpt taken from a letter received from Major H.A. Chisholm, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner at Calcutta. I was not aware that Canadian Universities were averse to receiving Indian students, and in case our Trade Commissioner is in error perhaps you will be good enough to advise me.

COPY

Excerpt from letter received from Major H.A.
Chisholm, Canadian Trade Commissioner at Calcutta.

I am informed that even the business of our Life Insurance Companies is affected by our exclusion of Indians. Mr. Axelrood, special agent of the Manufacturers Life of Toronto, lost several policies in Bombay this year when his clients found out that his company was Canadian. He told me that they said that if they were going to place a policy outside of India, it would be with an American company rather than with a Canadian. It is surprising how many Indians are acquainted with this exclusion feature of the Canadian Immigration Laws. If on his return from Canada, Mr. Sastri could announce to the Press that the Govt. of Canada had made even a slight concession to India in the matter of their entry into Canada, a much better feeling would be created in India toward Canadian goods and Canadian business interests. If, for example, Canadian Universities announced that Indian students were welcomed in their halls, even if other classes were excluded, ^{from Canada} the present resentment would probably to a certain extent be dissipated.

Dear Sir,-

With reference to your letter of the 16th. inst., thinking the matter over, I have been wondering whether you could, in your Technological Laboratory, make a specialty of export packing, not only for the benefit of your students taking the Commercial Course, but also for the manufacturers of Montreal. This idea has been re-curring in my mind for a number of years, and I have always intended to advance it in this country, if the opportunity should occur to do so. My idea is that some technical institution should take up this question of packing and study it, and possibly put themselves in a position to solve problems of packing which might be submitted to them. I confess to be speaking in a good deal of ignorance as there might be many difficulties connected with such an idea, and again it might not be supported, but if it would not be troubling you too much, I should be extremely gratified and obliged if you would let me know what you think of it.

I am particularly emboldened to write to you on the above subject since reading some words in a recent address of Professor Ira Allan Mackay to one of your graduating classes. Amongst other things he expressed a hope, - "that the institutions of government and the universities would come closer together that the country's scholars and statesmen would work hand in hand".

If you could help us out in this idea, it seems to

I regret that it is impossible to inform you where Junior Trade Commissioners will serve, as that will entirely depend upon the exigencies of the Service, when they have completed their instructional and probationary period in this country.

The initial salary of Junior Trade Commissioners is $1,260 per annum (if without business experience) which will be increased upon recommendation for efficient service at the rate of $120 per annum, until a maximum of $1,500 has been reached.
A salary of $1,800 per annum will be paid to successful candidates with business experience of at least three years. The salary in each case will be supplemented by whatever bonus may be provided by law. As soon as received from the Civil Service Commission, I shall send you a printed sheet giving a little more information in regard to conditions. As you are no doubt aware, all things

Dear Sir,-

With reference to my letter of even date, I enclose herewith copy of "Positions Vacant List No. 92", which advertises four vacancies in the Commercial Intelligence Service. The paragraph headed "Duties" is not very clear and might be misleading. Assistant Trade Commissioners, after serving for a varying period under a Trade Commissioner, are appointed to Trade Commissionerships as vacancies occur. The salary of a Trade Commissioner runs up to $5,800 a year, and living allowances are granted up to $1,000, according to location.

Even if candidates may not be successful in the coming examinations, it may be advantageous for them to have their names placed upon a list of eligibles, if they should be placed sufficiently high in the examinations.

Arrangements with McGill in regard to the extension course in export trade, are not, in my view, proceeding very expeditiously, - in fact, they do not appear to be very greatly advanced beyond the stage arrived at before my departure for Europe in June last, and as the time is drawing near for the commencement of the course, I am becoming somewhat anxious.
