

To Dr. Flick from W. O.

1 West Franklin St., Baltimore.
March 31, 1904.

Dear Flick:

You had your way after all, so I suppose we must all turn in and make a great success of the new Society. The committee will have to have a couple of meetings for organization.

What I write about now is the proposed new Journal of Tuberculosis of which I think Huber has already spoken to you. It would be an all-important matter to have the active support of the Phipps Institute people. I think in many ways it would be better for it to be an independent organization, supported by the societies and by the men interested in the work, and one which would be representative of the best interests of the country at large. I wish you and Ravenel would give it a thought.

Sincerely yours,

Wm Osler
