Dear Sir William,

I am glad you have found my pamphlet of so much interest. I wondered rather whether you might find that you knew the source of the fragment on consumptions, but if you don't, clearly it must be new. You are quite right in diagnosing Bruce Rogers; he has taken a lot of trouble over it. I have had 54 copies printed, and still have plenty left, so I will certainly send one to Professor Monro. If you want any more yourself please say so. I shall, of course, send one to the Bodleian.

I am on a holiday for this month, but when I am back in London (working for the F.R.C.S.) ~~Cosmo~~ and I shall no doubt be applying to you again in connexion with the Bibliography.

Very sincerely yours,

GEOFFREY KEYNES.
