--- We had five American officers - all Boston men - New England as usual is much to the fore in all the organization of Hospitals in England & they seem to have settled on this as Sunday Headquarters. It is delightful but rather exhausting - Sir William was polishing off an address for Cambridge and has gone there today --- I think you will find Sir William looking better - I trust I do not have to go to Scotland I would prefer being with him for our pitiful Anniversary of the boy's death.
