Dear Harry Cushing,

I wrote to Prof. E. D. Thorne & received the enclosed reply. The war weather must have got into his bones & filled him with dejection. He doesn't often write in that way. Perhaps my incomplete list may be of some use to him. I cannot do anything to improve it, and I am away in Scotland.

It has rained here for the last six weeks, & our hopes of getting away for a holiday in Kent's on the hills

R

am very remse.

I hope you were able to see Lyle Currier last week. It was very friendly of us to give us the great pleasure of your company, & the Lyles were so glad of it as we were.

With kindest regards,

Yours sincerely,

J. N. Brewster
