Dear Harry - Lady Stamford I heard yesterday is very ill and her sister in law told me this with great anxiety; so I can't ask her again - She told me once that they had not found the letter among her brother's things. I have written down what I recall.
Please use it without names. I have your letter this morning. Nothing definite.
I settled about Bill and the girl.
I am very annoyed at the library people having allowed Rubrah to publish the "Memoranda" Sir William Saxe Dr Birkett - before he left, after the war. There was no money provided by G.O. - & it is entirely on my shoulders to make proper financial arrangements.

This I cannot do as yet.
I mean that Dashing Mutual would muddle things from the way he behaved on talker, last summer. Bill is here just now. His sister Beatrice has "slipping dickens" in London & May Osborne

The other distⁿ - was in a motor accident in Cambridge & has one eye out - & his skull fractured - You might ask me for details if you are interested - but it is all a mess - I am afraid Archie's chances are slim - at the mill - the is growing m^{ore} easy - We are having boiling hot - weather & I am too hot - to cross to write - but send my love - & wish you were here -
Aunt Grace.

The Cheever were here last week & do vice - Kangaroo too has been here twice lately.
