

CUSH/75-4

Came in early one morning when Mrs W. was telephoning outside. Took telephone from her and pelted into him most violently and angrily for a long stick that he was supposed to have sent some days previously.

Another day turned all the pictures in the house with their faces to the wall.

Always endeavored to make children look as untidy as possible. Would chase them all over the house. Favorite game was a fight between two parties one up stairs and one down stairs with cushions pillows or any other loose and harmless articles.
