I was just desolated on Wednesday p.m. when Harris insisted that I should return for another sitting - there was no help for it, I had to go as the poor fellow had had only three days. I wanted so much to see the Museum. You have done such good work for it. I hear nothing but praise of you in connection with it and the new development of systematic teaching in the Museum will be most helpful.

Is that remarkable specimen of healed aneurysm still in the Museum? How is the catalogue coming on?
