Dear Herbert:-

As I wrote your mother, Trudeau thinks you will be able to get into the Sanitarium. This will be very much better for you at first. You could be under careful supervision, and get into the proper method of life in the Adirondacks. Baldwin, the young doctor in charge, is a very good fellow, and you will find Dr. Trudeau a perfect jewel.

One of my students, Mr. Lawrason Brown, is there. Write to him and say when you expect to arrive, after receiving notification from Dr. Trudeau, which will be in the course of a week I suppose. Professor and Mrs. Adami from Montreal are there too. At first I think you will have to see very few people, so as to save your voice, which I am afraid you are inclined to use too much. Baldwin is a very excellent man in throat troubles, and will be able to advise you satisfactorily.

I would look upon the matter as a good holiday for your health, with every prospect of complete cure. I would take up some special subject for study, some Greek author, and work at it so many hours a day systematically. Brush up your classics and general literature, as in the summer you would probably get a very good opportunity to do coaching work, preparing young fellows for college. Don't worry about the financial aspect. That can all be arranged for you very comfortably without the slightest inconvenience to us.

Sincerely yours,

W^m Osler
