W.O., to J. George Adami.
May 16th, 1900.

Dear Adami: Looking over your article on the plague reminded me that I had not heard anything of little Mary Cantlie for a long time. Unfortunately I had to miss the Washington meeting on account of the illness of my brother B. B. I did not even hear whether you were there or not.

Shall you go to Paris this summer? We sail on June 16th, and shall be in London until the middle of July, and then shall go to Swanage, where we were last year. Should you come over you could always get our address from Brown, Shipley & Co.

Sincerely yours,
Wm. Osler.
