Dear Martin:

I do not see that you should reproach yourself specially. I should have been very doubtful about the existence of aneurism had it not been for the fluoroscope, and it is only recently, with a new machine and new German tubes, that we have been getting pictures of great distinctness. It is a very sad case. Give my love to Stewart, please. I wish you could come down for a while before we leave.

Sincerely yours,

W Osler
