Dear White:

I am glad to hear you are still "on the road". I think the motoring should be very good for you, if you can keep on your own side of the road. I see no reason why a competent chauffeur should not get into the English habits in a few days.

Sargent was asking after you the day before yesterday. He has finished the picture, and I think it is really first class.

Give my love to Mrs. White, whose life I hope has now less arrhythmia in it.

Sincerely yours,
