Dear Adami,

Thanks for all the trouble you have taken about the Anatomy.
I think it will be a good place for young Wagstaffe.*

We shall see you, of course, when you come over. We have a houseful with Mrs. Revere and Mrs. Osler's brother and sister, but you could most comfortably at Christ Church. The bedroom is small, but you will not mind that. I have to be in London on the 6th, 7th, 8th and 9th, so let me know where you will be.

Sincerely yours,

* Written to me at Marburg where I had gone at Osler's suggestion to work at the completion of my "Principles of Pathology" and instead took to working with Aschoff over 'Fluid Crystals'. Wagstaffe did good work overseas in the medical service during the war.
