(To Dr. J. Wm. White)

August 5th. 1907.

Dear White:-

I gather from a letter from Mrs. White that you were both rather disappointed at my opinion, but I feel quite strongly that you would be very injudicious to put any extra strain upon your heart. After such a long siege of arrhythmia I think you should be on the safe side, and to tramp about in the Alps over high passes might start up the trouble again. I do not think the mitral murmur amounts to anything. It is probably one that comes and goes and might not have been there before luncheon. I am sending this to Morgan's. I have not Treves address. Please send it to me. Give my kind regards to Mrs. White.

Sincerely yours,

W^m Osler
