Dear Adami,

I send you the Archdeacon's Dialogue* in which I am sure you will be interested. It is the only work of the kind I know. I see that there is only one earlier edition in English of the School of Salernum, but that is impossible. I think you have got a bargain in the beautiful one you showed me. Do you know the American edition by Ordonaux, an excellent translation in quarto? It will probably be in the library at home. The best edition for reference is Sir Alexander Croke's.

I hope to see you on Thursday.

Sincerely yours,
Wm. Osler.
