

(Typewritten)

13 Norham Gardens, Oxford. Feb. 11, 1908

Dear Harry T.-

Have you seen Purves Stewart's "Manual of Diagnosis of Nervous Diseases? The illustrations are excellent, but you could duplicate every one of them. I am quite sure it would be a great success. Look it over, do not think about it, but just tackle it.

We are having a peaceful winter. I have rather a protracted attack of mental inertia and poor McCrae and the System are having a hard time. I think he has done uncommonly well to get out three volumes in one year.

I hope Hal is working towards the Rhodes Scholarship. It would be a splendid thing for him. We see Worthington quite frequently. He has stopped a night here once or twice. Have you seen cousin's Life of Sir Henry Wotton? It is a first class piece of work with which everybody is so pleased.

Give my love to Mrs. Thomas and Margaret and Trudeau. I wish Margaret could be over here to play with the Rhodes Scholars.

Was there a temperature chart taken in Richard Thomas's case? If so, please ask the daughter to send me a copy. In any case I would like a memorandum--(1) of the duration of his illness; (2) whether any embolic features at the end; (3) had he any somewhat curious tender spots out over his fingers, and lastly, ask MacCallum to send me a memorandum of the post mortem.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed)

Wm. Osler.