

13 Norham Gardens,

Oxford, May 13, 1908.

Dear Miss Charlton:-

I am sure Dr. Galloway will be glad to send you his paper. I hope you are thriving and happy and not worrying the life out of Mr. Gould and being kind to the boys and loving that saint, Dr. Maud Abbott, and possessing your soul in patience and doing all those many things to the members of the Faculty for which you are so well known. I am sending you this week a large photograph which Mrs. Osler says is disgusting, but it represents me in my latest phase of academical austerity. You can have it framed at my expense and put up in the library.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed)

Wm. Osler.

Dictated.

13 Norham Gardens,

Oxford, May 13, 1908.

Dear Miss Charlton:-

I am sure Dr. Galloway will be glad to send you his paper. I hope you are thriving and happy and not worrying the life out of Mr. Gould and being kind to the boys and loving that saint, Dr. Maud Abbott, and possessing your soul in patience and doing all those many things to the members of the Faculty for which you are so well known. I am sending you this week a large photograph which Mrs. Osler says is disgusting, but it represents me in my latest phase of academical austerity. You can have it framed at my expense and put up in the library.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed)

Wm. Osler.

Dictated.