Dear Harry T.-

It was too bad to miss you in Baltimore. We have had a very hurried trip but it was delightful to see old friends again. I had intended to write to say how pleased we were with Hal's visit. What a fine fellow he is! You must be glad to see him developing into a big manly fellow
 [of the Haverford School Cricket team to England]
 The trip was an education in itself and the team did very well. I was sorry not to see Trudeau and Weir Mitchell. I had to be a bit careful as I feel a few loose rocks in my right kidney, and at the end of a racketing day they rattle. I have had no sharp attack since Jan. and I hope the Contrexeville waters may wash them out.

¶ How is our friend Petit? Let me have a reprint if you write him up. How is that diagnosis? A small manual like that of---the young London man, Ferrier's assistant, would help you and you could write it in a single innings with Z.T. bowling! Love to her, the boys and Margaret.

Yours ever,

W.O.

¶ He finished his former assistant agent deal on the subject of his writing a student manual of Diagnosis (Neurology) but with less success than he had had with de Schumann's and many another. ~~So accustomed to read off articles written for him~~ It was perhaps difficult for him to ~~write~~ appreciate the ~~how~~ ~~immature~~ ~~appears~~ the writing of a book to others so inured ~~was~~ ~~to~~ himself. To the ~~honour~~ of ~~Alcibiades~~ ~~was~~ so far as ~~of~~ ~~the~~ ~~boundaries~~. The following letter has reference to one ~~of~~ ~~the~~ ~~most~~ ~~unfulfilled~~ ~~and~~ ~~trivial~~ ~~which~~ ~~H.M. James~~ ~~had~~ ~~for~~ ~~done~~ ~~his~~ ~~part~~ ~~share~~.
