

Oxford, 30th Sept., 1912.

Dear Jacobs;

I am very much distressed to hear that Mrs. Jacobs has had collitis. I know what a troublesome and obstinate malady it is. It is nice to hear that she is better, though, and sitting up.

I am doubtful about the French meeting, as I really ought to stay at home and work. I will look up the reference in the British Museum this week. We are in a terrible mess here, trying to get the tuberculosis problem settled. The difficulty is to get any central control.

I saw Mr. Phipps off on Friday. The opening of the Institute will be in the latter part of April.

Revere went back to school in very good form.

Love and best wishes to Mrs. Jacobs.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler.
