Dear Sudhoff,

Greetings for the New Year.

Could you send me the names of any men in Germany (with their addresses) who are special students of Roger Bacon's works. We are to celebrate next year in Oxford the 700th anniversary of his birth, and we are anxious to have on the general committee some representatives from Germany.

We are arranging at the Oxford Press for a new edition of Liddell & Scott's Greek Dictionary. The Editor is very anxious to get into communication with some of the men who are editing the edition of the Greek Medical Classics for the Prussian Academy. Could you send me a list? The medical and scientific terms need very careful revision. He has got one or two men in this country at work upon them, but on special questions that may arise he would like to confer with his German colleagues.

You will be glad to hear that we have made a good start with our History Section in connection with the Royal Society of Medicine. I hope you will, some time, come over and give us a paper.

Sincerely yours,
Osler
