

(Yale University Press)

From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

1 Nov. 1913.

Dear Mr. Hackett:

I am disgusted not to have been able to send you back the lectures, but I have been so tied up the past two months with extra work that I was not able to get on with the proofs. Jastrow, whom I consulted about some Babylonian matters and who was coming over to lecture, wished to see the proofs, so that detained me further. Now I have to get on with them rapidly. There is no hope of getting the volume out by January. I do not think it will make much difference except that it would have been nice to distribute them for Christmas presents.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler