

Prince of Wales Tutor

(To Prof. H. P. Hansell)

Dear Hansell,

May 5, 1914.

Collier & I overhauled the Prince this morning & I am glad to be able to report that the general condition is very satisfactory save in one particular — that his weight has not increased. Still! when one considers the strenuous life he led in Norway this is not surprising. We have urged strongly upon him the necessity of taking more food & of supplementing the ordinary meals with at least three glasses of milk a day & the tonic food. The muscular condition is excellent, the circulation is better, the blood pressure having risen to 115. I should say the outlook was good. It is not to be expected that he will gain greatly in weight, but he is really very strong. It is all-important that he should not get depressed & self-centred. Urge him to eat at fixed hours & to take more than he does at breakfast & luncheon.

Remind him also of the mineral water; in case he does not take liquid enough.
