

May, 28, 1914.

From Oxford.

CUS417/117.115

Dear Libman:

That is a very interesting observation of Plotz's. Do ask him to send his papers to me. His whole piece of work is very satisfactory, and, even now that it turns out that Brill's Disease and typhus are the same, he deserves great credit for giving us this new chapter in its history.

I hope to be out in September for the Johns Hopkins celebration. Are you coming over this year?

Sincerely yours,