

Copy of letter to Dr. Archibald E. Malloch

From the Regius Professor of Medicine, Oxford.

24th November, 1914.

Dear Malloch,

Archie arrived in very good form, and we have enjoyed his visit here very much. He is just getting over his second anti-typhoid inoculation, which knocked him over a bit, but he is all right to-day.

Mrs. Guest has arranged for her hospital somewhere north of Calais, where I think he will see plenty of good work. As you know, she is the daughter of Henry Phipps and wife of the Hon. Freddy Guest, Controller of the King's Household. She and young Howard Phipps are going over, and Archie will be very comfortable with them. Of course, Mrs. Guest is delighted with him. He looks A.1. in his uniform.

We are seeing all sorts of interesting cases here. The nervous injuries and the chest are what I am looking after specially.)

Love to Mrs. Malloch and to Olmstead.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) Wm. Osler.
