Dear Garrison,

We shall be very glad indeed to have the Tripler book, either for the Bodleian or for the College of Physicians. From what you say, it must be very interesting.

So glad you read a paper on Foster. Do publish it, as he was a man full of ferment, and devoted himself to his pupils and to the development of the Cambridge school. There was a nice human quality about him, too, that endeared him to his fellow creatures.

I have not sent you yet a list of the few errata. I suppose there is no hurry. Your book is at my elbow all the time. It is extraordinary how much you have put into it.

With love to Gorgas, and to all my good friends there.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler.
