

July 10, 1915.

From Oxford.

Dear Libman:

Thank you so much for the paper, which is most interesting. I shall look forward to the completed paper before long.

I am afraid Plotz will be disappointed in Servia, as I hear the typhus has almost gone. I daresay they would find plenty in part of Hungary if they could get through. William Hunter went over on a typhus expedition and has come back very much disappointed.

Things are very quiet here; we are in a lull, so that there is not much doing in the hospitals. I am afraid the Chicago and Mc Gill men will be very short of work at first.

that

I am delighted to hear /1 you have founded a Janeway Lecture at Mount Sinai. It will keep alive the memory of an uncommonly good clinician and a fine man.

By the way, have you had any recent post-mortems on erythraemia cases, or do you know of any recent ones in New York with careful bone marrow studies?

We are all well and very busy. My boy has gone over with the Mc Gill unit as their assistant quartermaster. When they are settled and get any medical cases, I shall go over for a month.

Greetings to you all.

Sincerely yours,

My love to dear Jacobi when you see him.