W.O. to J. George Adami.
24th.

(hand-written)

Dear Adami,

I called to have a chat with you about the McGill Unit as I hear the Jesuit College to which they are assigned is a hopeless hole. The Cols. went over and inspected it and are evidently very unhappy about the whole business. I hoped to see Jones. Drum tells me there is nothing else, but to make the best of it. The trouble is to get anything done. It is not a very good thing for the service to get a first-class group of men disgruntled and unhappy. They have been living in a beastly spot, as it is. Say nothing to Jones about it. I have written to B. to do what he can to make the old place of service.

Sincerely yours,
Wm. Osler.

Archie was enchanted with his visit.
