From Oxford.

Dear Libman:

Thanks for your kind greetings! I hope all goes well with you and yours. I wish I could have a 'round' with you at Mt. Sinai. How pleased you must be to have seen the development of the Hospital progress so rapidly and on such good time. I have had a very busy year - too busy for much literary work. Many worries too of one sort and another. Our boy is in the Royal Field Artillery and has been in the thick of this last Ancre (Somme) fight. This is of course, a great anxiety.

Give dear Dr. Jacobi my love when you see him. I had a nice letter a few weeks ago. Wonderful old man!

Best wishes, dear Libman, for 1917.
