

From Dr. Malloch's Journal
Monday, Sept. 9, 1918.

At breakfast I looked at Macray's Annals of the Bodleian, and W.O.'s notes in the back about poor Nicholson and his arithmomania. It was W.O. who first suggested the Bodleian Quarterly Record (see letter from Mr. Madan in the Annals). W.O. gave me such a nice photograph of Sir Jonathan Hutchinson. He left for London at 10.55, then to Shorncliffe to talk on future of the profession in Canada after the war - was to tell the story of Dundas Valley James Hamilton, etc.

cf. his Biograph. note on Jas. Hamilton - Gen. med. Surg. June 1877