

C O P Y

13, Norham Gardens,
Oxford.

21st February, 1919.

Dear Flexner,

No doubt Lord Rhondda was in all sorts of Companies, and had to take over the original Santogen. I suppose as a proprietary food she (Lady R) regards it in the same class as Bovril and Virol. Would it not be well for the Chemical side of the Institute to investigate, in the interests of the public, the nutritive value of these proprietary foods, or perhaps the A.M.A. has already done it? I have not heard anything further about the Institute.

Sincerely yours,

(Signed) Wm. Osler.