

To the same.

Oxford,
March 10, 1919.

CUS417/127.155

Much to my regret I had to wire this morning withdrawing my acceptance. The subject of course interests me intensely, but I do not think I could give the needful time. I am awfully sorry but I think it would be better to get a younger man who could give more time to it.