

To Sir J. MacAlister.

Dear MacAlister,

I quite agree with you. I have just had a letter from Latham no wonder he is disgruntled. I hope that at the Meeting next Monday we will get a move on. Both the Chairman and the Secretary should be in London; this doing business from scattered centres over the country is never profitable.

So glad you are better; I have been laid up on and off with a laryngitis.

Sincerely yours,

Wm. Osler.
