

April 1, 1919.

We have had a pretty steady stream of fellows for the past few months... ~~To-morrow Bobbie Emmens comes with Sallie and his sister; he has not been at all well, and I am afraid there's a good deal of tragedy in the family.~~

Love to you both: my greetings to Howland.

Sincerely yours,

W.C.

(signed)

(From Dr. Wilbert C. Davison)

CUS417/128.4

13, Norham Gardens,
Oxford.

1st April, 1919.

Dear Davison,

We were delighted to have your letter this morning: I am so glad you have got settled. How nice it will be for you both to have a little flat and a home.

A good many changes here - Dryer has come back, bringing two Americans to work for a year at some Air problems. Bassett, whom I daresay you may remember, has come in with Sherrington, and is to have a Course in Clinical Human Physiology for a group of men who are staying up for Pathology and Pharmacology. He will take them in the use of physiological apparatus as applied to the study of disease. I will send you the scheme of the Course, which I think should be helpful.