W.O.'s letter

Sir Edward Worthington.

The play -
"Dr. James Barrie".

Barry?

You may have seen that a play - "Dr. James Barrie" was produced at a matinee at the St. James' Theatre. She was a very remarkable character, and I have been interested in her as we used to hear such remarkable cases about her in Montreal. She died in 1865, and the statement is that the report of the autopsy is in the War Office Records, Victoria Street - at least, so Colonel Rogers says in a preface to the book "The Modern Sphinx". Keogh thinks the report would be in the Central Registry of the War Office. I should like very much indeed a copy if it is possible to get it.
