To the President of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association

GREETING:

We, the Mayor of Sarnia, the Mayor of Montreal, and the Mayors, respectively, of important towns and cities on the route between Sarnia on the west and Montreal on the east of the Dominion of Canada, herewith convey to you our congratulations on the success which has hitherto attended your Association, an organization which we understand to have for its object the development of bicycle-riding, not only as a sport and healthful recreation, but as a useful auxiliary to the various purposes of daily life.

We recognize in the trans-provincial relay-ride which has been arranged to take place this day between Sarnia and Montreal, an exemplification of the fact that we as Canadians are bound together, not only by community of interest, but by the ties of brotherhood, and we rejoice to feel that there is at least one field—that of honest athleticism—which is unvexed by the clash of opposing creeds and parties, and in which we all meet on the ground of mutual respect and hearty fraternal feeling.

We also feel that many useful ends may be attained by the proper carrying out of that enterprise of rapid transit whereby this document is forwarded from us to you, among which may be named:—

1. The thorough testing of the capabilities of the bicycle as a despatch carrier.
2. The demonstration to the public generally that the bicycle is something more than a mere toy, or a vehicle of amusement only.
3. The showing of the correct riding distances through each district, and from town to town, and the popularisation of this means of healthy inter-communication.
4. And (which we regard as exceedingly important) to draw public and authoritative attention to the conformation and condition of the chief public highways through which this relay-ride takes place. The improvement of our roads is one of the most vital questions of the day, and we regard the bicycle as a valuable indicator of the merits and demerits of our highways.

In conclusion we trust that the members of your Association will be animated with that unselfish devotion for the corporate good which gives strength and solidity to any society, and that your efforts may tend to cement that bond of union which should always unite the various Provinces and Districts of this fair Dominion.

old men in our ranks who still ride and who encourage their sons and daughters to ride. We believe it is the best advertising journal in the whole list.

Died in Outremont, P. Q., Canada, early in January, Albert Thomas Lane. He was among the early cyclists on this side of the water, if not the earliest, for he imported a bicycle from England in 1872. He was well known to the early cyclists of the United States, for he came to many of our Meets, Races and other functions. He joined the L. A. W. Oct. 2, 1880, as a member of the Montreal Bi Club. He was an Englishman by birth, having been born in Hertfordshire in 1849, son of the late Joseph Lane. He came across the water to Montreal in 1871 and entered the employ of the Montreal Warehousing Company, with which firm he remained until his death. He rode his imported bicycle for the first time on Dominion Day, 1872, and attracted very much attention. His example was soon followed, and the Montreal Bicycle Club was formed, of which Mr. Lane became a charter member, later on joining the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, of which he became president for a term. He had been in failing health for a few months, but had been confined to the house for only about three weeks. In the pocket of his coat was found, after death, a copy of the Official Bulletin containing the account of the death of his old friend, W. W. Stall, with whom he used to interchange home visits.

He is survived by a widow, 4 sons and 2 daughters. His son, Eric (19 years) has answered the call to fight for "King and Country." Mr. Lane was very proud of his soldier boy and his absence from home contributed somewhat to the father's illness. Mr. Lane made frequent trips to Boston and seldom failed to call at League headquarters to have a chat with the Secretary. He was a warm hearted, whole souled gentleman and one of those links to the past which his many friends will sadly miss.

A Promising Cyclist Gone.

It will be with regret that Montreal wheelmen will learn of the death of Master A. T. Lane, better known as Bertie, after an illness of over four months. He was a phenomenal rider when age is considered, and among the said souvenirs left to his sorrowing parents are many prizes won at cycling meetings. In 1889 he won first prize in a slow race from a field of sixteen competitors in St. Catharines. He was presented with gold medals both in Montreal and Quebec for fancy riding in 1885 and 1886. He took a first prize at a meeting in Belleville, and was the first to mount Cote des Neiges hill on an ordinary. Although not quite sixteen years of age he suffered from a complication of diseases and a final attack of influenza was the cause of his untimely taking off. The members of the M.A.A.A. will assemble at the gymnasium at half past one this afternoon to attend the funeral.

The Montreal Bicycle Club has lost a prominent member in the death of Bertie Lane, son of the president of the club. A large number of the relatives and friends attended the funeral, which took place on Saturday at 2.30 p. m. The deceased was one of the most prominent of the junior bicyclists of the city. He was a phenomenal rider, when age is considered, and among the souvenirs left to his sorrowing parents are many prizes won at cycling meetings. In 1889 he won first prize in a slow race from a field of sixteen competitors in St. Catharines. He was presented with gold medals both in Montreal and Quebec for fancy riding in 1885 and 1886. He took a first prize at a meeting in Belleville, and was the first to mount Cote des Neiges hill on an ordinary. Although not quite sixteen years of age he suffered from a complication of diseases and a final attack of influenza was the cause of his untimely taking off.

In school life he had distinguished himself, as well as in the field of sport. In the last June examination at the Victoria school he stood at the head of the senior class and was awarded the Commissioners' bronze medal and a three years' scholarship in the High School. He was also a musician of considerable promise.

MONTREAL.

COAT OF ARMS OF THE CITY OF MONTREAL.

Sprung from the hope of noble hearts,
Brought into being through sacrifice
Of men and women who played their parts,
And counted not their lives as the price.
She has grown in her strength like a Northern Queen,
'Neath her crown of light and her robe of snow,
And stands in her beauty fair, between
The Royal Mount and the River below.

Changing its hue with the changing skies,
The river flows in its beauty rare ;
While across the plain eternal, rise
Boucherville, Rougemont and St. Hilaire.
Far to the westward lies Lachine,
Gate of the Orient long ago,
When the virgin forest swept between
The Royal Mount and the River below.

With its convent buildings low and white
Nun's Island lies, half wood, half plain ;
While abreast of the city, green and bright
Springs the wooded crest of Ste. Helene.
In the east the shimmer of waves is seen,
Where the river spreads in its onward flow
From the Royal City that lies between
The Royal Mount and the River below.

WILLIAM McLENNAN.

ROYAL CITY! truly, and right royally we welcome you to and tender you the freedom of it.

Come with the poet and stand on the spot where pilgrim feet, from those of the last globe-trotting tourist back through the long line—distinguished and commonplace, stranger and citizen—to those of the ever-memorable, history-making De Maisonneuve, Champlain, and Jacques Cartier, the Discoverer, have pressed the turf on old Mount Royal's crest. Look! Sweep the eye over the magnificent panorama spread in all its wealth of mountain and meadow, stream and sky, factory and farm, castle and cot, and wonder if you will that we who know it best should love it so, or that our love for our native city should impel us to voice its praises in song.

It is not our purpose as cicerones on this occasion to weary you with guide-book platitudes, or ostentatiously parade before you tabulated statistics and schedules of our wealth in real and personal estate. Of these you will see no lack,—solid facts, very materially en evidence, that we cannot conceal if we would,—but rather would we direct your glances towards the natural beauties, the quiet by-ways, the "Sights and Shrines" ignored by the fin-de-siecle hustler, and remind you of the romantic and historic associations that cluster thickly among the brightest jewels of our city's crown.

To the eye undimmed by the glare of the latter-day magnificence, and the ear attuned to catch the whisperings that echo amid the jarring clamor and bustle of a great trade mart, these appeal with forceful insistence. The very air is voiceful with memories of a stirring past. Amid the work-a-day crowds, impalpable forms, clad in doublet or cuirass, move to the accompanying tinkle of rapier and spur; the ghostly chanson of rollicking voyageur and courreur-de-bois is hushed by the warning finger of cassocked cleric, or shamed by the averted glance and shrinking demeanor of hooded saint gliding by on some old-time errand of mercy; while high and shrill above the clangor of alarm bell, Pilote's warning bark, or defiant gun screams the strident yell of the vindictive foe that ever hovered, alert and ruthless.

Yes, wealth we have in rich abundance, gathered from near and far, from mine and field and sea, by the sturdy energy and brawn and brains, and as lavishly poured at her feet by the City's hard-headed Saxon sons; but should we not cherish as fondly that legacy of the past handed down to us and deeded in a tongue other than our own that it behoves us to know a little better than many of us do?

Glance rapidly over the record. Sail with the Discoverer, in 1535, up the vast, unknown, expanse of mighty waters, past Gaspé's cliffs, the awful portal of Saguenay's mysterious depths, and Stadacona's beetling crags, on to where the Royal Mount rears its plumes above the foam of the rapids and shadows the town of Hochelaga nestling at its feet. Read of his reception and the homage, as to a god, paid him by the chief, and see the plans he made of the well-laid-out, circular, walled town, which, in a few short years, was so utterly destroyed by war and pillage of hostile foes that its site was utterly lost, and its very existence questioned, until recently, when workmen digging in the immediate vicinity of the M. A. A. Club House accidentally discovered traces that settled the matter beyond dispute in the minds of antiquaries, and afforded many of them fine opportunities to acquire some of the long buried relics.

Years pass—seventy-six, long, bloody, wasting—till again in 1611, the white man, pressing ever westward his empire-widening-way, beaches his venturesome canoe on the shingle of St. Mary's Current, and Champlain plants the "Bourbon's Lilled Blue" at the fitting season of the birth of the year and on the ground where, at that same season, nearly three centuries later, the children of a more favored generation lovingly gather by armfuls the Trilliums—"white lilies," they call them—that gem the maple wreathed slopes of Mount Royal. All around is the awful gloom of the solemn woods, and not a trace of the town remains that Cartier found there. To the keen eye of the explorer, the value of the site as an entrepot of trade and an outpost of supreme importance at once appears ; and on the spot where the Custom House now stands, and recently re-christened as he called it, he cleared a space and named it "La Place Royale."

Again and again the "white lilies" bloom and fade unnoticed by the wandering forest children and hardy white fur-traders as they periodically meet at the spot for purposes of barter and trade, and forty-two years have marked their course when, in 1642, occurred an event that marks an epoch, and Montreal was born !

Hail to thee, Royal City ! Like a Queen—
Thou sittest on thy throne in regal state,
Ruling thy servitors that on thee wait
With courtly dignity, and noble mien.
Under thy canopy of maples green,
Thou takest tribute at thy castle's gate,
Borne in by white-winged messengers, and great
Their golden store : but richer far, I ween,
Thou art in loyal hearts that beat for thee ;
That turn to thee as pilgrim to a shrine,
Or wanderer in foreign lands toward home.
Wealthy in memories : thou hast the key
To treasures of a storied past, a mine
Of riches for thy sons in time to come.

Little of the pomp and pageantry of courts, however, attended the birth of this foundling of the woods, and a strangely assorted company stood sponsors at its baptism, gathered together, as they believed, by the miraculous interposition of Providence and directed to their mission by Our Lady, to whose protection the settlement was vowed and, it is said, actually deeded in writing as Villemarie de

Montreal. The age was productive of strange combinations of characteristics in the personages on the stage,—the heroic and the sordid, the crusader and the sutler, the soldier and the ecclesiastic, the martyr and the zealot,—but amid all the conflicting motives leading up to the inception and guiding the progress of the pilgrim expedition was a settled faith, amounting almost to inspiration, that breathed in the historic words of the Jesuit Father Vimont addressed to the little company composed of Paul de Chomedey, Sieur de Maisonneuve, commandant and founder; the Governor, de Montmangny; Father Vimont; Mlle. Mance; Madame de la Peltrie and her servant, Charlotte Barré; and a small band of soldier-colonists as they knelt at the altar hastily erected on landing and lit by the fire-flies they imprisoned in a phial: “You are few, but your work is the work of God. His smile is upon you, and your children shall fill the land.” Let the cynic sneer, and the sectary cavil as they will, but let them read the record and consider the words of the historian, himself a descendant of another pilgrim band who landed on another spot but a few years before: “Is this true history, or a romance of Christian chivalry? It is both.”

Dip further into the record—it is interesting as any story, strange compilation as it may be of credulity and stern matter-of-fact, so-called miracle and horrid detail of diabolical cruelty to martyrs for the Faith—and read of the struggles of the infant colony to maintain their foothold; their preservation from flood and cruel foes; their continued growth; the valor of all, from the commandant down to the dog Pilote and her brood, whom she trained to scour the woods and give warning of the presence of the red-skinned tigers, ever lurking to destroy. The very boys clamored to go with the chivalric Dollard on his forlorn hope to a death by the Long Sault, and a girl of twelve, Madeleine de Vercheres, held a fortified post with only the aid of two younger brothers, an old man, and some women, against a swarm of howling Indians for a week! Read on, how the settlement grew in importance with the growth of the country, notwithstanding the petty jealousies, intrigues, and open ruptures, in which the money-grubbing civilian, the swash-buckling militaire, and the arrogant cleric each strove to advance his own schemes of agrandizement, while a paternal government endeavored to keep the peace by alternately bullying and coddling the people with puerile regulations, and over all the Beaver was king and the Courreur-de-Bois his prime minister!

Various causes combine to aid the disintegration slowly but surely working. The French crown is weary of the burden of caring for an ungrateful colony contemptuously styled "a few acres of snow" which a vigilant enemy regards with a more appreciative and longing eye. Many of the prominent inhabitants view with indifference—if they do not positively help to bring about—a change of allegiance, in the hope of covering up scandalous trafficking at their country's expense. The careless garrison is surprised, overpowered, routed. Quebec is taken, and the Fleur-de-lys is plucked for England on the Plains of Abraham!

Montreal is left—a single jewel in a broken crown—and three armies settle down about the walls demanding surrender. Vaudreuil, the Governor, signs the capitulation in a farm house on the Cote-des-Neiges road without firing a shot; De Levis burns his flags on the Island, fondly called by Champlain after his wife, Helène; the troops march in to the City by the Recollet Gate, and British bayonets bristle on Citadel Hill—now Dalhousie Square—around the piles of French muskets and other captured spoils of war; the citizens—defiant, sullen, or indifferent—acquiesce as best they may in the general acclaim: "Le Roi est mort—Vive le Roi!"—the French Louis bows to destiny and the Hanoverian George grasps the falling sceptre and rules a new domain for England!

King's crowns and commoner's caps alike sit uneasily on "swelled heads," and, in dealing with some of his refractory American subjects, the unkingly malady created serious complications. The Thirteen Colonies revolted, and, in turn becoming similarly affected, sought to "persuade" their cousins to the north to join them—the envoys sent by them being accompanied by armed troops who capture Montreal and make themselves quite at home in the best quarters for a time until disaster overtakes the expedition at the attempt before Quebec. Montgomery falls, and the enemy retires, broken and dispirited, to nurse his wounds for nearly 40 years, till, in 1812—on the principle, perhaps, of similia similibus curantur—he applied for and got another dose of the same medicine.

MONTREAL.

Reign on, majestic Ville-Marie!
Spread wide thy ample robes of state;
The heralds cry that thou art great,
And proud are thy young sons of thee.
Mistress of half a continent,
Thou risest from thy girlhood's rest;
We see thee conscious heave thy breast
And feel thy rank and thy descent.
Sprung of the saint and chevalier!
And with the Scarlet Tunic wed!
Mount Royal's crown upon thy head;
And past thy footstool, broad and clear,
St. Lawrence sweeping to the sea:
Reign on, majestic Ville-Marie!

Montreal now settles down to adjust herself to the changed conditions of a new allegiance, and the friction and jealousies between the two races, that has not yet wholly ceased, early developed. The naturally aggressive Briton claimed all, and perhaps more than, his just share of rights and privileges. He ruled in business, if not in politics, then as after, and the magnates of the trading community loomed large. The North-West Fur Company was formed about 1783, and the names and doings of its promoters, the vast operations in the wilds and the lavish hospitality and conviviality of its periodical re-unions at headquarters read like romance.

In a recent article, Arthur Weir thus describes the City at the close of 18th century :

“ In 1797 Montreal contained about twelve hundred houses, of which seven hundred were without the fast crumbling walls of the ancient city. The houses within the walls were usually of stone, while those in the suburbs were of wood. The streets were narrow, and the gloomy aspect of the lower or business portion of the town was heightened by the sheet-iron shutters which were upon all the store windows, and which were closed every night for protection against fire. There were six churches in the city, one each for the Presbyterians and in summer to the umbrageous groves of Mount Royal. A club was formed, whose members, to the number of a hundred or more, frequently passed the entire day wandering through the glades and among the crags, sitting down to their meals under some spreading maple, whose strong arms supported a column of verdure above some rippling spring."

In 1801, a company was organized to supply the city with water from the mountain springs through wooden pipes! and this crude enterprise, culminating in disaster, was the germ from which sprung the splendid system now doing the work. Slavery, abolished in Upper Canada in 1793, was still legal in Lower Canada, though practically fallen into disuse; "the last slave publicly sold in Montreal being Emanuel Allen, aged thirty-three, who brought thirty-six pounds on 25th August, 1797. In 1803, Chief Justice Osgoode decided at Montreal that 'slavery was incompatible with the laws of the country.'" Nelson's column—a special object of aversion to a section of the community, recently threatened with dire destruction by boyish dynamiters, and until the erection of the statue of Queen Victoria, in 1872, and the yet incomplete monuments to De Maisonneuve and the Founders of the city, the only public monument in the City—was erected by all classes in 1809 in spontaneous tribute to the glorious victory of Trafalgar. To a Montreal merchant, John Molson, is due the honor of placing the first steamboat on the St. Lawrence in the same year, his attempt being second only to that of Fulton, on the Hudson, on this Continent.

Montreal obtained its charter in 1833 and about this time suffered from two visitations of the dread cholera which carried off thousands of all classes of her citizens. Fire and Flood and Fever ravaged and destroyed property and life at different periods in the twenty years following, and Riot and Rebellion, too, reared their hydra-heads from time to time. Simultaneously with the ascension of Victoria to the throne, the great struggle of '37 here had its inception among certain political hot-heads who clamored of grievances in the Parliament House while their mis-guided followers were getting theirs broken by the axe-handles of the loyalists in the streets outside in the first skirmish, which was but the precursor of many disasters leading up to the scaffold at last. The burning of the Parliament Buildings and the disgraceful treatment of the unfortunate Governor-General, Lord Elgin, arising out of the passage of the—to the loyalist party—obnoxious "Rebellion Losses Bill" deprived Montreal of the seat of Government which was, in consequence, removed to a safer retreat, and the members "took to the woods" surrounding Ottawa's classic halls. Election riots of former days are still the theme of the old veterans who therein wielded hickory and paving stone, and bravely fought—or ran away, as prudence dictated, while the Orange riots, in 1878, and the small pox anti-vaccination riots of 1885 are fresh in the minds of all. The military spirit has always been strong in the breasts of young

Montreal, from Dollard down, and when the excitement of the Trent affair, in 1861, fanned the volunteer movement into new life, and the Fenian fiascos of 1866 and 1870, the Red River Rebellion of 1869, and the Northwest Rising of 1885, besides frequent calls to assist the civil power, demanded the aid of her loyal sons, the assembly bugles echoing along her streets awoke immediate and enthusiastic response to the call to arms. Happily, the fatalities in all these "wars" were few, and the "honorable scars" mainly borne on portions of the uniform not covering the breast ; yet it might have been, and may yet be, very different, and when the call comes there is little doubt of the answer : "Ready ! aye Ready !"

Necessarily, in a rapid sketch such as this, in the space at command, much of interest must be omitted and effort mainly confined to the attempt to awaken a desire for fuller knowledge. Aside from the great mass of material in MS. and print, unavailable to most of us because of our lamentable lack of knowledge of the tongue in which it was written, there is much valuable matter pertaining to Montreal in condensed form of special articles by McLennan, Lighthall, Sandham, Weir, Murray, Reade, Martin and other local writers in prose and verse ; but the source and inspiration of most of it may be traced to Parkman—prince of historians and raconteurs—than whom no safer, more entertaining or instructive guide could be desired ; whose facile pen has done more for us Canadians of English speech than any other in showing us the priceless possession we have in

Despise our birthright as some base-born churl
And recreant yield it with a nerveless hand,
Or stain our scutcheon with a Judas blight ?
When traitors hiss, do thou, indignant, hurl
Thy challenge back : "It is my native land !"

OUR SPORTS.

*"Happy in lot and worthy to be sung,
"Is he who, strong of hand and swift of foot,
"By using well his gifts has won the prize."*

(Pind. Pyth. x 38).

So sang the bard when proud Hippocleas,
The Heraclidæ had won the chariot race
On the Crissocæan Plain. Ages have passed
Since Pindar, on his lyre, to Hellas' sons
Did honour. But his words are true to-day
For us who dwell in this fair northern land
As when he walked about the streets of Thebes.

Gone are the glories of Olympia ;
The athletes on the Isthmus meet no more ;
Cleonæ's grove resounds not with the joy
Of valiant wrestlers, and Appollo hears
No more the prayers of ardent worshippers—
Their brows encircled with the laurel crown.

Yet still survives the spirit of the past ;
And from such azure skies as even Greece
Could not excel, the glowing sun, looks down
On scenes as gay as those of Altis grove,
When from where'er they spoke the Grecian tongue,
From isle and mainland, thronged the kindred hosts
To celebrate the great Olympic games.

Whether, in summer, on the level field,
Marshall'd as friendly foes, we strive to urge
Homeward the much sought ball with well-aimed crosse
Or, when stern winter reigns, o'er snowy waste
We tramp with cheerful hearts and joyous song ;
Or, o'er the glossy surface of the ice
Sail, with the will for rudder, free as air ;
No Greeks of Hellas were more proud than we
Of our Canadian land. What Grecian games
More fitted to develop the young frame,
To give it suppleness and fire and force,
Than our own aboriginal lacrosse,
The snowshoe and the skates ? What finer sight
Can placid age or beauty's eye survey
Than the swift movements of the cricket field ?
What firmer bulwarks can a nation have,
Than sons thus trained in eye, in foot, in hand,
In quick resource, in temper and in skill ?

JOHN READE.

IN HIS Anglo-Saxon descendants wherever they are situated, the spirit of the Viking still survives, and is manifested in the love exhibited for all out-door pastimes and athletic exercises on both field and flood, where skill, activity and endurance are required. In Canada this fondness for out-door sports has been a characteristic of the people, and in no town or city has it shown more vitality than in the City of the "Royal Mount," the commercial metropolis of the Dominion. The associating together of individuals for the promotion of sports and athletics had not come into general practice prior to the middle of this century, but the athletes of Montreal, long ere that period, appear to have had the now popular idea of forming themselves into clubs or associations for the furtherance of muscular Christianity, and thus early laying the foundations for those institutions that have, as the years passed by, been the source from whence the Canadian youth could thus be "trained in eye, in foot, in hand, in quick resource, in temper and in skill." Among the numerous clubs affiliated, connected, or in some degree associated through its members, with the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, more than one can trace the date of their organization to the earlier days of the present century, and claim precedence over similar institutions on this continent.

Their record is an interesting one for it thus extends over a period of nearly a century.

Many traditions are still extant of the early history of out-door sport in the City of Montreal, but the time at the disposal of this brief review prevents the verifying of much interesting matter principally relating to the games of Curling, Cricket and Lacrosse. The athlete of days gone by cared nothing for records, he indulged in out-door games for the sake of the healthy exercise it gave him and the good fellowship which it engendered, and kept few registers of passing events. Through patient research much interesting data has been recovered, but a great deal has yet to be accomplished to make the record complete. Among other incidents handed down, it has been said that when the "Lily flag" of the Bourbon was replaced in 1760 by the "Union Jack," upon the citadels of Quebec and Montreal, the Briton brought with him and introduced to Canadian ice and soil, curling and cricket, those national games of Scotland and England, and both found a congenial home. Tradition hath it that the clear cold winters of Canada delighted the Scotch hearts of Fraser's Highlanders, and that many a game of curling was played on the green ice of the St. Lawrence. Tradition also goeth much further and saith, that long ere the advent of the white man and before Maisoneuve planted the cross and laid the foundations of "Ville Marie," the Hochelaga or Beaver Indians indulged in many a game of their Indian ball play, to which the early French explorers gave the name of "La jeu de la Crosse," now abbreviated into our modern name "Lacrosse," upon the Beaver meadows which lay near to their ancient village of Hochelaga. Of the ancient lords of the land upon which the City of Montreal is now built, nothing now remains to remind us of them but the name "Hochelaga," and the three fascinating out-door pastimes of Lacrosse, Snowshoeing and Tobogganning. From the ball play of the Indian have we inherited our national game and from the snowshoe and toboggan, their means of locomotion over the snows of winter, the white man has developed two glorious winter sports. Coming however down to later days and to the time when facts and figures can be verified and not mere tradition, the first organized sport that claims attention is "Auld Scotia's" game of the "besom and the stane."

CURLING.

1807. The oldest club on this continent of organized out-door sport is undoubtedly the Montreal Curling Club, founded in 1807. It is also the oldest of the Colonial and foreign clubs in affiliation with the Royal Caledonia Curling Club of Scotland, being admitted into that association in the year 1841. The first curling match on record between Montreal curlers and those from a distance was played in 1835 between Montreal and Quebec, both clubs meeting half way at Three Rivers, the players having to drive there and back and covering upwards of two hundred miles on their journey. Enthusiastic sports they must have been, and in these days of swift locomotion one does not realize what that journey of two hundred miles over the snow meant. The record says Quebec won the match and Montreal had to pay for the dinner in consequence. Many visits have been paid to and received from outside clubs since then and the curling clubs of Montreal have gained and upheld a wide reputation for skill and hospitality. Next in age to the Montreal Curling Club comes the Thistle Curling Club organized in 1843, and the Caledonia Curling Club in 1850, both of whom were admitted into the Royal Caledonia Curling Club in 1843 and 1868 respectively. Montreal has other two clubs of recent formation who bid fair to uphold the prestige enjoyed by their seniors, viz: the Heather formed in 1887, and the St. Lawrence in 1891. Of late years many members of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association have taken a keen interest in the game and becoming members of the various curling clubs of the City, are active and devoted exponents of the sport. Being formed to create an interest in all legitimate out-door sport, the M. A. A. A. to encourage its many curling adherents offered to the curling clubs in the city in January, 1893, a trophy for competition annually, and this M. A. A. A. trophy is now among the number that engage the active attention of the devotees of the "Roaring Game." It was won the first year by the Thistle Curling Club, and in 1894 by the St. Lawrence, the junior club of the competing rinks.

CRICKET.

The early records of Cricket in Montreal have yet to be traced. Although the game has been played in this city during the better part of this century, authentic evidences and minutes are not at present available.

The first cricket club to form in England was the Hambledon in the beginning of the 18th century. This club was in full bloom towards the latter part of the century but eventually broke up in 1791, although the name was held until 1825. The famous Marylebone Cricket Club was formed in 1787. The game was very popular in the middle of the 18th century in England, and there is no doubt but that many of Wolfe's army could handle the willow as well as the musket and the sword. That cricket was played in Montreal during the early thirties is strongly asserted, while Sherbrooke claims an organization in 1836 and matches were played between Toronto and Hamilton in 1835. The first international match with the United States was played in Montreal in 1845. The means of communication between Montreal and Toronto in the forties was principally by stage, only a small part of the great St. Lawrence Canal System being completed, and the Grand Trunk Railway as yet only an idea. Matches between the large cities at a distance were extremely rare, yet in 1846 Toronto Cricketers travelled a total of 665 miles, to play a match in Montreal, and had the great satisfaction of winning. It took three years, 1849, before Montreal was able to return the visit. The players in these early days called themselves the Montreal Cricket Club. Later a body of cricketers calling themselves the Vespers joined issue with the officers of the Garrison, on the cricket field, while a number of the older cricketers assisted the military in forming the Montreal Garrison Club. The Vespers it appears afterwards lost their identity in the Montreal Cricket Club reorganized. The fifties saw the Montreal Cricket Club again flourishing, on a new ground on St. Catherine street, and besides the Military, a club called the "Aurora" formed in 1853, disputing with them the supremacy of the Cricket field. In 1859, the Montreal Club invited a team from England, guaranteeing £750 for expenses, etc., and Parr and Lilliewhite's professional eleven accepted the invitation and played a two days match on the Montreal grounds, against twenty two Canadians. This team was the first English Eleven to cross the Atlantic, and also played in New York, Philadelphia, Rochester and Hamilton, winning all matches. This venture of the Montreal Club was not a pecuniary success, for the members of the Club had to make up a deficit of about £100. The excitement of the "Trent" affair in 1862 brought a large military force to Montreal, who aided in reviving the Garrison Club, the sixties being years of much cricketing interest. In 1866, Philadelphia sent a team to Montreal, who were defeated in two matches. In 1867, Mackay street was opened through the Cricket Grounds and the club was compelled to form a new crease on ground a little farther east, which they occupied for nearly twenty years. In September 1868, Montreal had a second visit from an English team, Willsher and Freeman's Eleven playing their only match in Canada on the Montreal grounds. In 1872, Captain Fitzgerald brought out his "Gentlemen of England" among whom were Grace, Hornby and Ottaway. The year 1878, saw an Australian team, among whom was Spofforth the "Demon Bowler," as guests of the Montreal Club, while eight years later Sanders' English Eleven as well as teams from the West Indies and Halifax, handled the willow on the club's old grounds, during the season of 1876. The club received a severe blow in the fall of 1886 by losing the grounds on St. Catherine street upon which they had played so many years, and being unable to secure a field were almost extinct. In April, 1890, the M. A. A. laid out a cricket crease on their grounds at Cote St. Antoine, and made arrangements for reviving the game with a number of the old members of the Club, and the Montreal Cricket Club is now one of the clubs connected with that institution. A number of other cricket clubs have been formed in Montreal, who have at various times done good work in keeping up the interest in "Old England's" national game, among them the Grand Trunk Club, formed from among the employees of that railway company and first organized in 1854, and the "St. George" formed in 1873, and McGill University. Mr. Browning the present President of the Montreal Club, holds the record for making the largest individual score in America; viz: 204 at a match against Ottawa played in 1880.

SNOW SHOEING.

1840. The next sport in age as an organized pastime is that of Snow Shoeing, and the Montreal Snow-Shoe Club's contention is, that it is one of the oldest athletic clubs on this continent dating its history and formation back to 1840, over half a century ago. Representing a pastime indigenous to Canada it is essentially a Canadian sport and has perhaps flourished more in Montreal than in other portions of the Dominion, owing somewhat to the prevalence of a more abundant supply of snow than is enjoyed by many of the other athletic cities and towns of Canada. The snow shoe was originally devised by the Indian, centuries ago, to aid him in travelling over the snow in pursuit of game, and despite the ingenuity of the white man, it is to-day essentially the same, the principle of construction remaining, only slightly altered in weight and style to suit the present conditions of use. Snow Shoeing, like Skating or Tobogganing, is more of a pastime or outdoor exercise, than a sport or game, and as a health invigorating exercise it cannot be excelled. It is to be thoroughly appreciated and enjoyed by taking part in the weekly tramps of the clubs over Mount Royal on a clear frosty night when the snow sparkles brightly under the moon's clear rays like so many diamonds. As you ascend the mountain side the countless lights of the great city shine in magical beauty away below and you feel all the enchantment of a fairy scene, while the blood courses swiftly through your veins causing you to feel all the elasticity of youth. The history of the Montreal Snow Shoe Club has been written and published, and its record has been a long and honorable one. Up to 1857 and 1858 it was alone in the field but a "St. George" and the "Aurora" sprang up and pushed the old club hard for supremacy on the race track. In 1862 the members assisted to form the Victoria Rifles and snow shoeing played second place to drilling. In 1868 the "Dominion" and "Alexandra" clubs were formed and for some years proved themselves formidable rivals. In 1869, the Club adopted the now famous head-dress the blue tuque, and the familiar title of the "Old Tuque Bleue" has since become the accustomed cognomen of the Montreal Snow Shoe Club.

This year the Montreal Club inaugurated the Mountain Steeple Chase, an annual event adopted by all city clubs. H. R. H. Prince Arthur, now Duke of Connaught, then serving as a Lieutenant in the Prince Consort Rifle Brigade, attended the Club race meeting during this winter and honored the club by allowing his name to be placed upon the roll as an "Honorary Life Member." In December, 1871, a convention of the snow shoe clubs in the city was held and a law made regarding the size and weight of the racing shoe; the racing men being restricted in wearing a snow shoe not less than $1\frac{1}{2}$ lbs. in weight and 10 inches in width. In 1873, the Club assisted in the first Torchlight tramp over the mountain in honor of His Excellency, the Earl of Dufferin. 1874, the "Emerald" and shortly afterwards the "St. George" Snow Shoe Clubs were formed and the "Le Canadien" in 1878 and "Argyle" in 1880. All have proved staunch supporters of this pre-eminently Canadian Pastime. In 1875, the Club tramped to St. Andrews and in 1876 to Cornwall and in 1886 journeyed to Burlington to assist the athletes of that town in holding a Winter Carnival. In 1879, the Club erected an arch, manned by fifty of the members, in costume, in honor of H. R. H. the Princess Louise and Marquis of Lorne. In 1881, the Club assisted the Lacrosse Club in organizing the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. The Carnivals, those widely celebrated Winter Festivals of Canadian sport were proposed and originated by a member of the Montreal Snow Shoe Club, and since 1883 a lion's share of the organization and success of each succeeding Winter Carnival is due to the members of the "Old Tuque Bleue." In 1890, the Club celebrated its Semi-Centennial or fiftieth anniversary, by a brilliant "Jubilee Ball" in the Windsor Hotel, a torchlight tramp over the mountain and a concert in costume as well as the annual races and dinner. The club for forty years has annually held a Race Meeting, usually in the month of February, the events, with the exception of the Club Cup, being open to all comers. Among its large membership there has been much musical ability, and the club has many times given concerts, in costume, in aid of some local charity.

LACROSSE.

1856. The early records of the "National Game" in Montreal have yet to be traced. At present, as far as can be ascertained, the first-recorded match was played between teams of Iroquois and Algonquin Indians, in September, 1834, at the St. Pierre Race Course. An old citizen now living, claims to have played the game in 1839, near what is now known as Richmond Square on St. Antoine Street, but so far there is little evidence of white men handling the crosse before the forties. In 1842, the first athletic club for foot-racing and out-door athletics was formed in Montreal and called the "Olympic." It has been claimed for this club that it was the first known association formed for foot-racing. The "Athletic" club of Exeter College only claims to have formed the first athletic club in England in 1850, eight years after Montreal athletes formed the "Olympic." This "Olympic" club was undoubtedly the predecessor of the Montreal Lacrosse Club, for, after an active existence of some years, it disbanded, leaving a number of the members to formally organize the present lacrosse club in 1856. During the Olympic Club's existence it held yearly meetings, and included among the events, a game of lacrosse, either between teams of Indians or between white players and Indians. When the white men played the sides were usually seven whites against five Indians, the dusky players allowing the white men the odds in numbers. At the games in 1844, on August 28 and 29, a match of lacrosse was played between twelve Indians the first day and on the second, the whites played against the Indians, the aborigines winning. The game was also played at the meetings of 1848 and 1851, and in the latter year it is mentioned as the first time the Indians had been beaten by white players. On the 30th Sept., 1854, the Caledonian Society held their annual games at Beauharnois, and a game of lacrosse was played between two teams of Indians; again at the same place, on September 13th, 1856, a hard tussle took place between teams of Iroquois and Algonquins for a purse of $40. The report says the match was won in fine style by the Iroquois. The first annual meeting of the pioneer club of lacrosse and the "Alma Mater" of the National game was held in September, 1857, and the next club of white players to organize was the "Hochelaga" in 1858, who eventually amalgamated with the "Montreal" in March, 1860, under the name of "The Lacrosse Club of Montreal." In 1859, the "Beaver Club" was formed, and proved a doughty rival to the premier club. It pushed the old club strongly for supremacy on the lacrosse field, and eventually forced "The Lacrosse Club of Montreal" to change their nomenclature again to "The Montreal Lacrosse Club," this change being affected at the annual meeting in March, 1861. Early in 1860, the first rules and laws of the game were compiled and published by the now Honorary-President of the Montreal Club, Dr. W. Geo. Beers, whose active exertions in promoting lacrosse as our national sport, fully entitles him to the appellation of "the father of lacrosse." In August of the same year, the club assisted by the "Beaver," joined in the welcome to H.R.H., the Prince of Wales, and played a match before the Prince and his suite in honor of his visit. The programme consisted of a short match between two teams of Indians followed by a grand match between whites and Indians, in which twelve "Montreal" club men and twelve of the "Beaver" club played against twenty-four Indians. 1861, '62 and '63, were prosperous years for lacrosse, but in 1864 and 1865 the crosse was little handled, the Montreal being alone in the field. In 1866, a revival took place, Montreal and Ottawa crossing sticks at Cornwall, and the game took a new lease of life in Montreal. 1867 saw the birth of Canadian nationality and the Confederation of the British North American Provinces into the "Dominion of Canada." The Canadian youth, strongly backed by the press of the country, adopted lacrosse as the young nation's "National Game," and in order to celebrate it, the Montreal club played a Championship match with the Caughnawaga Indians on the first Dominion Day, July 1, 1867. Two of the Senior Clubs of Canada were formed this year, the celebrated "Shamrock," of Montreal, and "Toronto," of Toronto. In July, 1867, Mr. W. B. Johnson of Montreal took eighteen Caughnawaga Indians to England and played several exhibition games. In order to encourage and perpetuate the game the Montreal Club in September of 1867, called a Convention of all the Lacrosse Clubs in Canada, and the National Lacrosse Association was formed in that month in the City of Kingston. In July, 1868, the Mohawks of Troy visited Montreal and was the first club from the United States to play an International match in Canada. In August, 1868, a team composed of members of the Dominion and Crescent Lacrosse Clubs visited the United States, playing in New York and Troy. In 1869, the Montreal Lacrosse Club again entertained royalty by holding a tournament of several days in honor of H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught, then Prince Arthur. In 1876, accompanied by a team of Caughnawaga Indians, a team from the Club crossed the Atlantic and introduced the game to the British public. By royal command they visited Windsor Castle, and had the honor of playing before, and being presented to, Her Most Gracious Majesty the Queen. In 1883, in conjunction with the Toronto Lacrosse Club, a team again crossed the ocean with a team of Caughnawaga, and played some sixty matches. H. R. H. the Prince of Wales, as an Honorary Member of the Montreal Lacrosse Club was pleased to attend a match played in his honor. 1882 saw the Club in the Prairie Province, as guests of the very hospitable "Garry Lacrosse Club," of Winnipeg. In 1885, the method of playing for Championship honors was changed from the old challenge system to a series of home and home matches. The Montreal Club had long worked for this and endorsed the change by its brilliant victories of 1885 and 1886. In the latter year a Lacrosse Team from the North of Ireland under the cognomen of "The Irish Lacrosse Team," visited Montreal in August, as guests of the Montreal Lacrosse Club; a pleasant and enjoyable visit of three days being spent in entertaining the Irish pupils of the Montreal Club. Matches being played by them against Montreal, Shamrock, and "All Canada."

In the Spring of 1889, the Shamrock, Toronto and Montreal formed a league and invited Ottawa and Cornwall to join. Among a few of the changes made was the alteration of the old rule of playing the first three out of five games into the majority of games in two hours. This departure was heartily approved of by the public and the Montreal Club's record of 1889 was again a brilliant one. The Montreal Lacrosse Club had the honor of originating and in conjunction with the Montreal Snow Shoe and Montreal Bicycle Clubs of forming the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, in 1881, and the club has a home and grounds that it is justly proud of, and that will not be surpassed for many years to come.

SKATING.

1862. The Art of Skating has descended from the ancient Norseman, and Scandanavia was its early home. It has been traced in England to the 12th century and the "Dutch Skate" was the fashionable article in 1662. Skating was evidently introduced into this country by the early settlers, though little was heard about it as a pastime, until some time in the forties. In 1854, three officers of the Montreal Garrison raced to Quebec, creating considerable interest. The officers of the British Regiments in Canada were especially fond of the sport and strongly advocated covered rinks and figure skating. Quebec was the first to erect a covered rink and Montreal followed in 1859, the "Montreal Skating Club" being formed and a Rink erected on Upper St. Urbain Street, that year. The increase of the Garrison in 1862 encouraged the formation of another and larger Rink, and an act of Incorporation was obtained the same year under the name of the "Victoria Skating Club." The present building of the Club on Drummond street is one of the largest edifices of the kind, and the many Fancy Dress Entertainments and Carnivals, annually held within its walls, have given the club a world wide celebrity. The Club has had an active and eventful history during its thirty odd years of existence, and has done much to foster and encourage an interest in the "graceful art." In December 1890, the Montreal Toboggan Club having to vacate the hill occupied by them on Sherbrooke street, received permission from the Directors of the M. A. A. A. to lay out an open air rink on the grounds at Cote St. Antoine, and from the first inception of their idea the "open air rink" has achieved a pronounced success. The crowning events of this venture of the Tobogganing Club, was a membership this past Winter (1894) of 3400, and the successful races at which Johnson, Donohue and Norseng, and the professionals Norwedt, McCormack and Breen competed and attracted great interest and enormous crowds.

FOOTBALL.

1868. Another Sport of ancient origin is Football. It is mentioned in the lists of amusements of the Scotch people in the 15th and 16th centuries. The Montreal Football Club has the honor of being the pioneer club in Canada and was founded in 1868, and in its early years had many exciting matches with the Officers of Her Majesty's regiments, quartered in Montreal. The most active competitor the Club has had, is the Britannia Football Club, formed in 1875, and which for some years forced the Montreal to take second place honors. In order to encourage the game the Montreal Club in 1873 offered a Challenge Cup for competition and this trophy for a number of years was the emblem of supremacy on the Football field. This Cup since 1886 stands in the trophy case in the M. A. A. A. Club House, upon it there are some thirty odd shields bearing the names of the Winners with date of Matches. The record shows that in 1873 and 1874, Quebec tried unsuccessfully to wrest the coveted prize from Montreal. In September 1881, Montreal lost by default to Quebec, but won it back the same month. On November of the same year Britannia won and retained possession of the trophy until May 19th, 1883, when it came back again to the Montreal, who successfully defended it until 1886, playing some fourteen matches with "Britannia," "McGill," "R. M. Cadets" and "Quebec." Since 1886, championship matches have been held for the Province of Quebec, the "Quebec Rugby Union" being formed that year, the Montreal Club winning annually, with the exception of 1890, when McGill won first honors. In 1886, the Montreal won the Dominion Championship, in Toronto. In the Spring of 1885, the Montreal Club affiliated with the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, and has proved a popular addition to that institution. In 1874, the McGill Football Club paid a visit to Cambridge and played a friendly match with Harvard College which the Harvard returned in October 1876, and in 1881, Harvard visited Montreal as guests of the "Montreal Football Club." Of late, Association Football has found many advocates and some half a dozen clubs are now in active existence.

TOBOGGANING.

1881. As an organized sport Tobogganing is one of recent date. On the 19th of January 1881 the Montreal Club was established and for some years was all alone in the field. Previous to that year there was no organized club, Esdaile's Hill, Brehaut's hill and Fletcher's field, as well as the slopes of Peel and McTavish streets being used for many years by the devotees of the sport. The Winter Carnivals of 1883 and succeeding years, gave such an impetus to the sport that at the suggestion of several members of the M. A. A. a slide was built on the old Lacrosse Grounds on Sherbrooke street and the "Tuque Bleue" Club erected the first artificial shute. The "Tuque Bleue" club was organized on the 20th November, 1883; being preceeded a week earlier by the Park Toboggan Club, who erected a slide on the Mountain Park, now the only one in active existence in the City. A number of other clubs sprang into life about the same time but during the past few years the waning interest in the sport has caused them all to disband excepting the "Montreal" and "Park" Clubs. In 1884, the "Tuque Bleue" Club affiliated with the M. A. A. A. and for some years was a flourishing institution. In 1886 the ground on Sherbrooke street having been subdivided into building lots the club had to vacate its first home in the spring of 1887. Negotiations with the Montreal Club for the use of their hill, finally led to the amalgamation of the two clubs under the name of the senior Club "Montreal." The decadence of the sport in popular interest and having again to vacate their ground, caused the Montreal men to seriously consider the situation. An open air rink on the M.A.A.A. grounds at Cote St. Antoine was decided on, and the club property is safely stowed away awaiting the return of those joyous days when the old time "traine sauvage" held high revel with the youth of Montreal.

HOCKEY.

1882, Hockey on Ice is a game which the youth of Canada has developed for himself. In Scotland and Ireland Hockey or Shinty is a field game, but in Canada it has developed into one of the most fascinating of winter sports, rivalling Lacrosse in the intensity of interest. It is somewhat difficult to trace the evolution which has led the game up to its present form, but Hockey in anything like the shape it is now, was evidently first played by the Montreal Football Club. On March 3rd, 1875, the first match recorded of Hockey, was played in the Victoria Rink, between teams of the Football club and skating members of the Victoria Rink, captained by Messrs. Creighton and Torrance, respectively. A newspaper report of this match says: "The game is generally played with a large rubber ball, but in order to spare the heads and nerves of the spectators last evening a flat piece of board was used instead of a ball." Shade of the sprightly puck, out of what plebian material hast thou developed. Two weeks later, on the 17th of March, a match was played "exclusively" of football men, and styled the "Montreal Hockey Club," and a team from the Victoria Rink, called the "Victoria Skating Club." This game, as well as the previous one, was won by the football men. During the next winter, on the 5th February, 1886, a match was again played between the Montreal Hockey club and the Vic-Skating Club, the teams being composed of nine men a side. February 1st, 1877, was the date of the next match between the same teams, but on this occasion they had each dropped a man and played eight men on a side. February 26, of the same year, saw an interesting match between teams from among the members of the "St. James" and "Metropolitan" clubs. In 1877, appears the first mention of rules of the game. These rules were published in the columns of the daily papers, and contained among others the rule that "goals be changed after each game," the football rule of "offside," was prominent as well as the rule, now always more honored in the breach than in the observance, and which read: "When the ball is hit behind the goal line by the attacking side, it shall be brought out straight 15 yards, and started again by the "Bully." In 1878, Messrs. W. F. Robertson and

R. F. Smith of McGill College, re-arranged the rules of the game and started a hockey organization among the students, but they played under difficulties, for in order to practice they had to travel down to the river and clear away enough ice to play upon. In January, 1881, McGill College played against Quebec, as did also a team from among the members of the Victoria Rink. In 1882, the members of the Victoria Skating Club formally organized a club and played a draw match against Quebec; the same teams meeting again in January of the next year, McGill also making a formal organization this year, and Ottawa in March, 1883. The Winter Carnivals did much to increase the interest in the game, and in January, 1884, the Crystal Hockey Club was formed. On the 28th November, 1884, the Montreal Hockey Club was formed from among the members of the M. A. A. A., and several months later in February, 1885, won the Carnival Cup. 1886 saw the formation of the Canadian Hockey Association and an added interest in the sport. Ottawa, Quebec, the Victoria, Crystal and M. A. A. A., all entering teams. The "winged wheel" men have however through prowess and good fortune been singularly successful since then, winning for nine successive winters the much coveted Championship. From 1890 the Senior Championship was represented by a cup which the Montreal won for three successive years (1891-92 93), thereby becoming the possessors of that trophy. On February 26, 1886, the Montreal Club took a trip to Burlington, Vermont, assisting in the Winter Carnival held in that city, and competing for 7 gold medals, defeating the "Crystal" and "Burlington" Clubs. In December, 1887, the Junior Amateur Hockey Association was formed, through the exertion of the "Victoria" members, and has also done much towards popularizing the game. On the 25th February, 1889, the Montreal had a pleasant visit from the Chebuctoo Hockey Club of Dartmouth, N.S. In 1893 before leaving Canada, H. E. Lord Stanley of Preston, now the Earl of Derby, generously donated a cup as a perpetual Hockey Challenge Trophy, to be played for annually between the champions of Eastern and Western Canada. The Montreal being the champions of the Eastern Association won the trophy for 1894 by default.

BICYCLING.

1878. Bicycling may be said to date its birth from 1865, when Pierre Lallement, a French mechanic invented a two wheel cycle with a foot crank, at Ansonia, Connecticut, and rode from that town to New Haven. Lallement's Wheel was undoubtedly the forerunner of the present Cycle for it had all the essential ideas. Lallement went afterwards to Paris and from there, it is claimed, the invention travelled to England. In August, 1866, an Englishman named Gilman obtained a patent in England and laid claim to be the inventor of the Modern Bicycle. The old "Bone Shaker," or Velocipede craze of 1868 and 1869 had died out and between 1872 and 1874, developments were made that eventuated in the modern wheel with the rubber tire. The Sky Scraper Wheel of this date being succeeded in later years by the pneumatic Safety. In June 1874, the Bicycle took an Atlantic voyage in care of Mr. A. T. Lane, one of the three founders of the Montreal

Bicycle Club, and landed on Canadian soil on the 30th day of that month. No time was lost in preliminaries, and on July 1st, 1874, "Dominion Day," Mr. Lane had the honor of riding through the streets of Montreal, a 50 inch, plain bearing, socket steering Coventry, the first Bicycle imported and ridden on the American continent. It was not, however, until 1876 that the Bicycle became known in the United States. At the "Centennial" exposition of that year, held at Philadelphia, a number of Bicycles were exhibited. During the same year two Englishmen Jno. Kneen and David Stanton gave Exhibitions in New York on a Bicycle. It is stated Mr. A. D. Chandler, of Boston, imported on May 29, 1877, a wheel, and was thus the first native American to ride a Cycle. The year 1877 saw a score or more of riders in Boston, New York and several other large cities. Mr. Horace S. Tibbs, one of the founders of the Montreal Club, imported a "Challenge" Wheel and rode it through the streets of Montreal on August 15th, of that year. Mr. Tibbs commenced cycling in England in the year 1874, and afterwards won the first Bicycle Race ever ridden in Canada, two miles, on June 7th, 1879. The year 1878 can however be claimed as the year the foundation of Bicycling was laid on this continent. The number of riders constantly increasing, enthusiasts began to advocate the formation of Clubs. The first Club to organize was Boston, in February 1878, and the next Bangor, Maine. Montreal was the next to agitate in June, and the organization was completed on the 3rd of December, San Francisco following ten days later. Bangor ceased to exist, leaving the Montreal Club the second oldest on the American continent. Later, San Francisco had trouble in keeping up their organization and for some time was inactive, and when reorganized, for some unknown reason, claimed an earlier date of formation. The Boston Bicycle Club likewise passed into a moribund state for some time, and of the clubs formed in 1878, the Montreal Club is the only one that has kept up her organization steadily and continuously, as shown by the minute books of the club. The first presiding officer of the Montreal Club was Mr. C. J. Sidey and Mr. H. S. Tibbs was the first Secretary. These gentlemen together with Mr. A. T. Lane, now the President of the Canadian Wheelmen's Association, were the founders of Bicycling in Montreal, and the pioneers in Canada, the latter on this Continent. On the 31st of May, 1880, the "League of American Wheelmen" was formed and the Montreal Bicycle Club affiliated with it, and in June 1881 visited Boston, and took part in the Annual Meeting and Parade. In 1881, in conjunction with the Montreal Lacrosse and Montreal Snowshoe Clubs, the Bicycle Club took an active interest and share in forming the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association. On the 11th of September, 1882, the Canadian Wheelmen's Association was formed at Toronto, Montreal being represented by Mr. H. S. Tibbs. In July 1883, the Bicycle Club joined the C. W. A. in order to assist a national undertaking, although they had good reasons at the time for remaining attached to the American Association. During this year the racing men of the club were very active, all the Canadian Championships being held by them. The "Wanderers" and "Y.M.C.A." Clubs are two promising clubs of recent date. On July 1st, 1886, the fourth annual meet of the C. W. A. was held in Montreal, and now, after an absence of eight years, the National Association is again to visit Montreal, the home of the wearers of the "Winged Bicycle," where a "Cead Mille Failthe" awaits every visiting Wheelman.

MID the City's hurrying throng,
With muscles firm as steel,
And hearts to cope with grief and wrong
And tread them under heel,
There is an army, hundreds strong,
To God and Country leal,—
A host yclept in tale and song
“Knights of the Wing and Wheel.”

But not in crowded streets alone
These lusty knights are found ;
They make the broad champaign their own
And with their songs resound,
As well ere spring-tide flowers are blown
As when ripe fruits abound,
Or winter winds by moonlight moan
Above the snowy ground.

Extended reference cannot be made to the Royal Montreal Golf Club founded in 1873, the Montreal Tandem Club in 1882, the Montreal Hunt Club, as well as the numerous boating and sailing clubs that have existed around Montreal for many years. Those sports only have been touched upon, which are the more intimately connected with the wearers of the “Winged Wheel.” This famous badge or crest of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association has been carried victorious on many a hard fought field or race track, and the story of the rise and progress of the institution which it represents is also very interesting and instructive.

On steeds of steel, in country ways,
Far from the City's street
The Winged Wheel Knights, on summer days,
The awestruck peasants meet ;
And hills in vain their bulk upraise
To tire the rapid feet
That o'er the dusty roadways chase
The birds, well nigh as fleet.

* * * * *

All honor to the Winged Wheel Knights
That stalwart, fearless band,
That in the manly life delights
Of our dear native land;
Who from keen winter's wind that bites,
And from the ocean's strand,
Gain strength to guard our country's rights
And any force withstand.

ARTHUR WEIR.

THE "M. A. A. A."

TO UNDERSTAND the circumstances that led up to the formation of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, it will be necessary to go back to the end of the year 1859, when a number of the athletic young men of the city agitated for the formation of a gymnastic club. For several years previously a club had been in existence that had rooms in the business part of the city. The efforts of these athletes were finally successful in March, 1860, when a club was organized, which later on induced the authorities of McGill University to erect a gymnasium on University near Dorchester street, to be used conjointly for the benefit of the pupils and the club, the latter paying a rental for the privilege. In the spring of 1867 the members earnestly discussed the idea of erecting a gymnasium of their own in order to have increased accomodation, for the club had grown. A joint stock company was eventually formed and the fine stone building, now owned and occupied by the M. A. A. A. on the corner of Mansfield and Burnside streets, was erected. For some years this gymnastic institution was popular and flourishing, but the time came when for various causes the young men of the city lost interest in it. In March, 1877, the Montreal Lacrosse and Snowshoe Clubs deciding to open rooms for club quarters finally leased a portion of the gymnasium and altered it into cosy club rooms. In January, 1879, these two clubs leased the whole building at a rental of one thousand dollars annually, made numerous alterations and repairs and at the end of each year found they had made a successful venture. A mortgage on the building of some $13,000 was now proving a source of worry to the directors of the Gymnasium Club, and they decided upon selling the property. To many of the older members this was an unpleasant prospect, as the clubs had now a home and the idea of losing it was a very dismal one. A scheme was finally evolved for its retention and upon the assumption of the mortgage in April of 1881 the building became the property of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, a body composed of "The Montreal Lacrosse Club," "The Montreal Snowshoe Club" and "The Montreal Bicycle Club," and the Montreal Gymnasium Club lost its identity in its amalgamated successor. An Act of Incorporation was shortly afterwards obtained from the Provincial Government in June, 1881. In the fall of 1884 the "Tuque Bleue Toboggan Club" affiliated, and in the spring of 1885, the "Montreal Football" club did likewise. The success of this institution has been marvellous, in five years the association paid off the mortgage of $13,000, and the property valued at $30,000 was free from debt. Towards the close of 1886 they purchased the adjoining house, now altered into offices and club rooms, and several years later, another house also adjoining, in order to obtain ground for building and extending, so as to accommodate a fast increasing membership. The old grounds on Sherbrooke street occupied by the Lacrosse Club for nearly twenty years was in 1887 subdivided into building lots and new quarters had to be sought for. After much trouble and anxiety the present property was purchased in May, 1888, and towards the end of the year the association was the possessor of New Grounds, with track, pavilion and Club House, unexcelled on the continent, and costing $75,000. In September the M. A. A. A. was deeply indebted to their lady friends who organized a "fair" and realized from it the handsome sum of ten thousand dollars towards the expense of fencing and grand stand. The first event taking place on the grounds was the Fall Championship Games of the Amateur Athletic Association of Canada, organized in 1884. Annual championship meetings for athletic sports had been held by the Montreal Lacrosse Club for some years, as the senior athletic club in Canada, but upon the formation of the M. A. A. A., the Lacrosse Club in the absence of any national association, delegated to it their annual meetings, which were annually held until the establishment of the A. A. A. of Canada. Few cities, if any, can boast of such a variety of out-door sports and pastimes, or of such an array of athletic clubs as Montreal. Nearly every form of exercise is to be found arrayed under the banner of the "Winged Wheel," and not only out-door pastimes, but in-door recreation for both mind and body, are provided to suit the large membership. At present the association is composed of five clubs, viz: the Montreal Lacrosse, Snowshoe, Bicycle, Toboggan and Football Clubs, the autonomy being preserved and the interior economy of each being attended to by their own executive. Each club is represented on the Board of Directors by three representatives who are sub-divided into chairman of departments. These departments are: Gymnasium, Reading and Club Rooms, Out-door Sports, Billiard Room, Bowling, Entertainments, Property and Buildings, and Grounds. The connected clubs who have no voice in the management of the association but are composed of its members, are the Montreal Cricket Club, Montreal Hockey Club, M. A. A. A. Chess Club, Montreal Junior Lacrosse Club and M. A. A. A. Dramatic Club. The M. A. A. A. Baseball Club, Fencing and Cinderella Clubs are at present in a comatose state. The Reading Room of the Association is supplied with upwards of a hundred papers magazines and periodicals of all kinds, and the walls of the building fairly covered with photographs "large and small" of the club teams, past presidents and leading members; and a large trophy case, filled with flags, cups and other trophies won by the various clubs, bear witness to the prowess and skill of the members. The success of the M. A. A. A. can be attributed to the influence and guidance of clear straight business rules and principles, the encouragement of every genuine amateur sport and pastime, and an earnest desire to avoid everything that might tend to professionalism. Cultivating a love for athletic exercise, and a desire to see the best man win in a "fair field with no favor," the Association should be of incalculable benefit to the young men of Montreal. If we would derive a lesson from our pastimes, it is that, sports conducted honestly and fairly, encouraging cool judgment, self-control, confidence, and quick resource, will develop Canada's sons into a brave, strong and manly race, and our beloved country will thereby be honored, esteemed, and respected.

"So may faint hearts ever gather
From Canadian sports and play
Something of the force that, working,
Hewed the forests, cleared the way.

For the tree shows fairer blossom
When the roots are wide and deep,
And the pleasure turns to glory
When the victors revel keep."

If during these past years our "sports" have not crowned all their votaries with the laurels of the social hero, they have at least helped to disseminate a healthy, energizing and national taste among our young men, and should therefore be encouraged and perpetuated.

WILL H. WHYTE.

THE CANADIAN WHEELMEN'S ASSOCIATION.

"On September 11th, 1882, eight enthusiastic Canadian Wheelmen met at Toronto for the purpose of organizing an association, which should have for its object the promotion of the general interests of wheelmen throughout the Dominion"—So runs the earliest information available in reference to the formation of the Association. Alderman J. B. Boustead, of Toronto, was elected its first President, and J. S. Brierly, of St. Thomas, accepted the position of Hon. Secretary. Mr. Brierly was succeeded the following year by Mr. Hal B. Donly, of Simcoe, who has so worthily filled the position ever since, and to whose untiring efforts the success of the Canadian Wheelman's Association is so largely due. From this small beginning the Association has gone on increasing strength, until now, with a membership of 3000, its influence must necessarily be weighty when exercised in promoting the interests with which it is concerned. These are, primarily, the encouragement of cycling as a healthful recreation and the improvement of our city and country highways for the better enjoyment of it; and, secondarily, the government and classifying of races, the establishment of Championships in connection therewith, and the keeping of Cycling Records.

This is eminently a patriotic work in which loyal Canadians may well be engaged, and every wheelman not now a member is invited to the privilege and duty of lending his aid to further the aims of the Association, by joining its ranks and helping on the good work. Merely on the ground cited, membership may well be highly esteemed; but the direct benefits accruing to the individual have tangible value. His amateur status is assured and guarded; the moral and financial support of the Association is behind him in protecting his right to the Queen's Highway in common with all users of vehicles; and every member receives free the official organ of the Association, "THE CANADIAN WHEELMAN,"—a clean, up-to-date cycling newspaper, published fortnightly. The cost of membership is trifling:—$1.00 per annum for unattached riders, and for clubs having a by-law making Canadian Wheelman's Association membership compulsory, the fee is reduced to 50c. per capita. Mr. Hal B. Donly, Secretary, Simcoe, will gladly supply membership forms and all particulars to intending applicants.

A concluding word may perhaps be permitted. Loyalty to the Canadian Wheelman's Association as a Canadian organization should be paramount, and hearty support of its objects and personal effort in furthering them the aim of all. This may, at least, be exerted in the direction of strengthening the membership roll with good names, and supplying "THE WHEELMAN" with local news and bright correspondence of general interest, and in this way help to inculcate and cultivate among our cyclists a bond of genuine brotherhood.

SIGHTS AND SHRINES.

In connection with these, the following comments, by one to whom, perhaps, more than any other, the inception and furthering of the project is largely due, will be read with interest.

It will be noticed that some of the inscriptions are in French, others in English. As these are thus inscribed in accordance with the wishes of the respective donors of the Tablets, it is thought well to give them here as set up in place rather than translate the French into English. The simple arrangement in chronological order was preferred, on the whole, to any attempt to classify by incident, locality, route or otherwise. By referring to the map index the exact sites of the respective tablets may be readily located.—EDS.

HISTORICAL TABLETS.

The stranger will see in a number of places about the older parts of Montreal, tablets of white marble bearing inscriptions relating to historical events connected with the spots thus marked. These are a series in course of erection by the Numismatic and Antiquarian Society. The great importance and romantic story of Montreal in history will appear from the following list of such

The early vicissitudes of the little settlement, the great men who lived here, such as the founders of cities and discoverers of regions, La Salle, DuLuth, Cadillac, Le Moyne and others, and the mighty events such as the Fall of New France, of which the town was the scene, should impress the thoughtful mind.

OBITUARY

Familiar forms that will be seen no more.

A Sad Demise.

Result of Inexperience.

Food for Reflection.

"It is with little regret (in fact none at all) that we chronicle the death of many of the so-called high grade mounts in the Canadian market. It has been felt for some time past that they were constitutionally weak, but be that as it may, it is a noteworthy fact that ever since the advent of the famous "Quadrant" cycles, they have been quite unable to stand the comparison. Many of them forseeing the inevitable, determined upon copying the "Quadrant" designs, but the imitations were so apparent, that it availed nothing. This is another glowing tribute to the sterling qualities of the "Quadrant" and affords "food for reflection" to Canadians, in general.—ECHOES OF PUBLIC OPINION.

Stands for "Quadrant" the best of all wheels.

U

For the "Man" who should ride it.

For the "Amateur" showing his heels.

(To the "Donkeys" behind it.)

R

Stands for "Racer" special path or road.

For the "Ass" who ignored it.

N

For the "Novice" who knowingly knewed.

T

For the "Thousands" since learned it.

No. 22 ROAD RACER. Weight from 24 to 28 lbs.

We say unhesitatingly that the "QUADRANT" ROAD RACER is rapidly taking first place in Canada in the opinions of those who SHOULD KNOW and will certainly surprise those who PROFESS TO KNOW before the season is ended. N.B.—Send for our handsomely illustrated catalogue.

Papa—I don't know my son, unless it is because it goes so easy and attracts so much attention.

Arthur Augustus—Why? Is it such a good wheel papa?

Papa—Oh yes, it is said to be the best wheel in the country my son.

Arthur Augustus—Would you like to ride a Comet papa?

Papa—Ah! I can't ride a Bicycle at all my son.

Arthur Augustus—But if you could would you ride a Comet?

Papa—Certainly my son.

Arthur Augustus—Nuthin's too good for you is it papa?

Papa—Oh no my son.

Arthur Augustus—Say papa, where is the Comet made?

Papa—It is made in Toronto my son.

Arthur Augustus—Where is Toronto papa? Is that that town up near Hamilton?

Papa—Yes my dear.

Arthur Augustus—Hamilton is where the mountain is, aint it papa!

Papa—Yes, they have a mountain my son.

Arthur Augustus—Is their mountain as big as ours papa?

Papa—In some peoples eyes it is much bigger my son.

Arthur Augustus—Isn't that where they make the racing boards?

Papa—Well no, not exactly, but the general manager of the firm lives there.

Arthur Augustus—Aint it at Newmarket where the wash boards are made papa?

Papa—Yes my son, I believe there is a firm there who make wash boards.

Arthur Augustus—Is racing boards and wash boards made out of the same kind of stuff papa.

Papa—Some of the racing men think so my son, but keep quiet now they are going to start a race.

You can put it on or take it off the rim as easy as you can “fall off a log,” and it will hang to the rim with the grip of a bull dog.

At the date of going to press, we cannot speak fully and definitely of the plans for entertaining our guests, even if it were entirely well to do so, but from the reports of the work of the energetic committee who have this in hand, we think there will be nothing lacking.

For those who arrive in time there will be the "Merchants Cup Series" Lacrosse match between the Shamrocks and Montreal on the M. A. A. Grounds on Saturday afternoon, when the trial heats of the Championship races will also be run off.

On Sunday morning, special arrangements have been made for a General Church Parade to one of the largest city churches. The afternoon and evening may well be devoted to such quiet recreation and visiting friends or points of interest as may seem fitting to the day.

Early Monday morning, a specially chartered steamer will run the Lachine Rapids and arrive in the city in time to permit of some attention to our Sights and Shrines before taking up position for the Parade.

As time allows, qualified guides will conduct parties on observation tours to specially interesting points. Among these may be noted the Mountain Park, Sohmer Park, McGill University and its splendid technical departments, the shipping, with a visit to one of the great liners, the towers of Notre Dame, and not the least interesting, a tour of the Historical Sites and Commemorative Tablets under Mr. Lighthall's able tutelage.

On Monday evening, the committee expect to crown the meet and themselves with glory in the closing entertainment at which the prizes will be presented. Just what they are going to do "no fellow can find out," but from the nods and winks we have caught coming our way we imagine—nay, are sure—"they're all right!"

Not the least valuable of the privileges comprised in our tender of the freedom of the city is made possible by the kindness of the management of the Y. M. C. A., who freely place their magnificent new building, including the fine plunge bath, at the use of C. W. A. members while here.

A concluding word, which we print in capitals:

BRING YOUR C. W. A. MEMBERSHIP CERTIFICATE.

This will not only be very desirable as affording ready and pleasant means of introduction and identification among fellow members, but will be the surest passport and open sesame to doors that otherwise may be closed, and is a pass to the Meet, Lacrosse Match and closing concert at which the public are charged admission.

When the Bicycle Entranced Montreal

Sir.—The recent item in The Star about the world's first bicycle recalls the fact that the first bicycle in North America was brought to Montreal in 1876 by A. T. Lane. It was so great a wonder that the City Council declared a half holiday so "Tommy" Lane could ride on the principal streets for the benefit of the crowd which gathered.

That year the Boston Bicycle Club was organized, the Montreal B.C. a month later. The former eventually disbanded, leaving the Montreal club the oldest on the continent. It celebrated its 50th anniversary at a dinner in 1926.

The club met on Tuesday and Thursday evenings and Saturday afternoon. Rides were taken to Lachine, Back River, Bout de l'Isle, Point Claire etc., with an occasional ride about the city. Trips were also taken to Quebec, Ottawa, Roussell Point, Platisburg. Everywhere the club went it was invited to "come by again" for the members made themselves well liked by their gentlemanly behavior.

Some of the captains were Arthur Adams, Arthur Harries, Frank Albert Patterson, Gordon Melville, Louis Rubinstein. The last won the world's fancy skating championship in Russia in 1891. His brother Mose was figure skating champion of North America. Fred Pendleton was bugler, later Ed. Pickard. The bugle band consisted of Pendleton, Pickard, Melville, Bishop with McCormick drummer. The most exciting ride was made one night from Harvey's Hotel in Lachine to the M.A.A.A. Clubhouse—nine miles—in 30 minutes and 30 seconds.

The Canadian Wheelman's Association held the championship races in Montreal in 1894. Riders in relays day and night carried a message from the Mayor of Sarina to the Mayor of Montreal. They exceeded the expected speed schedule so much that a telegram had to be sent to the Mayor of Sarina the supervisors and riders east of Montreal in a terrific scramble to arrive at their stations in time. The elder of two Lyman brothers delivered the message three hours ahead of time to the Mayor at Peel and Dorchester streets.

The other Montreal clubs were the Wanderers, Shamrock, City; the last composed of ladies and gentlemen.
