

Coluber Naja, Linn:
Cobra de Capello, or Hooded Snake of Hindostan;
 this is one the Dancing Snakes, of a small size, drawn from the life at Bombay,
 a few hours before it killed a young woman.

(Copied at Brighton 1811, Jan. Fort.)

Naja tripudians.

See Oriental Memoirs, Vol. 1. opp. p. 54.

(This species but not a reproduction of this drawing which, however, will be found in "A continuation of an Account of Indian Serpents" by Patrick Russell, 1801, plate No. 1.