Dear Mr Deignan:-

Thank you for your note on Birds in the tropical Atlantic, which I am glad to have for 'The Auk'. I am further indebted for the separates you kindly sent me not long ago. The case of Cissa chinensis changing color is very interesting. Blue is a result of black or brown pigment plus structure of barbules. Green results from adding zooxanthin to these factors. What causes the loss of the zooxanthin?

Sincerely yours,

G M Allen
